Flag-Waving War

Confusion prevails as the first group of Japanese repatriates arrives in Tokyo from Soviet-controlled areas. Communist repatriates wave Red flags. Others wave Japan's "Rising Sun" flag. Still others wave flags bearing inscriptions to help them locate their families and friends. Many of the Communist displaced persons demanded time to register at Tokyo's Communist Party headquarters before departing for their villages in the north.

Doukhobors Talk Of Returning To Russia

NELSON (CP) — Some of British Columbia's Doukhobor sect may soon be leaving for greener fields.

The radical Sons of Freedom group—5,000 dissenters from the main racial strain—have given notice they will leave the parent group and head for either Russia or Turkey.

They harken to the call of John L. Lebedeff, chairman of the Spiritual Community of Christ, who has asked for a general migration. The Sons of Freedom, who more than once have been accused of blazing an incendiary path through the East Kootenay valleys of this province, broke from the main Doukhobor colony over the question of absorption of Canadian customs.

The Sons cling to the old religion and customs while the main group is to some extent assimilating Canadian ways.

TO THE EAST

In a statement Thursday night, Lebedeff said:

"After 50 years in Canada, the Doukhobors are destined to migrate east to either Soviet Russia or Turkey. . . . All Doukhobors desiring to fulfill the prophecy of migrating east, should see the chairman."

The Sons of Freedom have not been totally ideal citizens. Their adherence to the old religion made them defy governmental edicts, including compulsory military service.

Their enmity toward their orthodox brethren is believed to have led to the death in 1928 of Peter Verigin the Second in a railroad dynamiting. He was the orthodox spiritual leader.

Peter Verigin the First brought the group from Russia in 1899. Since then the Sons of Freedom has been blamed for more than $1,000,000 damage in fire raids in 1947 alone.

Commissioner John Shirras of the B.C. Provincial Police today expressed skepticism at the announced plans of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors to migrate from Canada to Turkey or Soviet Russia.

While he said he would be pleased to see them go, by fanatic Doukhobors here probably caused the police more trouble than any other group, he would believe in their intentions only when they started to withdraw from B.C.

The colony at Hilliers on Vancouver Island is believed to be of the orthodox Doukhobor faith and not of the fanatic group.

Britain Tripling Hongkong Forces Against Threats

HONGKONG (UP)—The British are tripling their garrison at Hongkong against a possible Chinese Communist attack.

The original defence force of some 8,000 men is being swelled to 25,000. Half the garrison already has arrived. The rest are en route from the United Kingdom and Malta.

Although most observers do not expect the Chinese Communists to attempt an invasion of this key British Crown Colony, a 600-bed hospital for the "sick and possible wounded" is being provided, authoritative sources said.

Naval and air reinforcements also have been increased beyond original estimates.

British Army planners believe the Communist military vanguard might arrive near Hongkong, an offshore island, in early September if the present rate of advance southward continues.

But these same quarters also believe that the chief threat to Hongkong is not frontal attack but "fifth column" activity within.

Hunger Strike Ends

LEIGHORN, Italy (Reuter)—Forty-six political prisoners—mostly accused of collaboration with the Germans—ended a day-long hunger strike here Thursday after an official promise that their trials would be held in October. The prisoners, held for three years without trial, were also promised the cases would be heard in Rome.

Young Boy Drowns In Cowichan Lake On Holiday Visit

DUNCAN—Lawrence Holm, 8, drowned Thursday afternoon, while fishing from a wharf at Nitinat Camp, Lake Cowichan, police headquarters reported.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd V. Holm, 1246 East 59th, Vancouver, Lawrence was a student at Walter Moberley School in Vancouver and was visiting his uncle, John Bushy, Nitinat Beach, for two weeks.

According to reports, Lawrence leaped from the wharf to a log and fell short. He swam a few strokes but his struggles carried him farther from shore. His companion, Ronny Donohue, 10, of Nitinat, ran for help and Dr. A. Phelps and an inhalator crew from the B.C. Forest Products Camp, two miles away, were summoned.

Diving three times into the lake, Dr. Phelps saw the boy's body about 30 feet from shore but was unable to reach him.

Fifteen minutes after the boy fell into the lake, his body was recovered by means of a pike pole. Efforts to revive him proved futile.

An inquiry into the death will be held by Coroner J. H. Boyd at Duncan. The drowning was investigated by Constable G. A. Phillips of the Lake Cowichan provincial police detachment.

St. John's, Nfld., Bus Strike Ends

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (BUP)—St. John's residents went to work in buses today for the first time in two weeks.

A wildcat strike by 50 drivers employed by the city's main transportation company a fortnight ago reached tentative settlement Thursday.

The drivers, represented by an A.F.L. union, agreed to return to work pending the decision of an arbitration board set up to hear demands for a 20 cents hourly pay boost which would bring the drivers' rate to 70 cents.

There was no agreement on an interim settlement between the drivers and their employer, Golden Arrow Coaches Ltd.

'Arms For Europe' Program Going To Congress Monday

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman's $1,450,000,000 (B) military aid program to back up the Atlantic Pact will not be sent to Congress until noon Monday, it was announced today.

Originally it was scheduled to go to the House and Senate today.

The White House said the timetable was changed late Thursday after the President had consulted with Senate leaders.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the message could have gone up today, but the Senate leaders preferred to receive it Monday.

Ross denied that the delay was caused by a decision to include in the message some reference to atomic energy.

He assured newsmen there would be no change in content of the 3,000-word message.

The President informed his cabinet at its weekly meeting this morning of the delay.

Afterward, Vice-President Alben W. Barkley said he thought not only the arms authorization, but the appropriation for military aid to the treaty nations would pass both Houses at this session.

But it will face rough going in contrast to the overwhelming 82 to 13 vote of ratification given Thursday by the Senate to the 20-year defence treaty of 12 nations.

The House and Senate both will have to vote on the arms program but only a simple majority vote is necessary.

Hint Los Angeles Police May Have Shot Up Gangster

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Certain Los Angeles police officers "could have been involved" in the attempted assassination of racketeer Mickey Cohen, Police Chief William Horton said he had learned today.

Worton said the suspicion was relayed to him by California Attorney-General Fred N. Howser, who in turn claimed he had got the information from Cohen's attorney, Samuel Rummel.

"I immediately requested Mr. Howser to have Mr. Rummel inform me who were the members of the department involved," the chief said. "The Attorney-General then said he would get in touch with Rummel and inform me."

Cohen, dapper little mobster who was shot down with three companions on the Sunset Strip early Wednesday, had been feuding with certain police detectives for some time.

His charges that they had tried to shake him down for $20,000 led to a current grand jury investigation of Los Angeles vice. Cohen revealed the existence of recordings which allegedly linked certain vice squad officers to callhouse Madam Brenda Allen.

Two law enforcement agencies, Cohen and his attorneys all accused each other of "knowing who did the shooting."

Pursued Auto Goes Into Ditch; Two Men Injured

WINNIPEG (CP)—An 80-mile-an-hour chase by Winnipeg police in three cars ended when a small coupe carrying two men smashed into a 12-foot ditch seven miles northwest of here Thursday night. Police reported they were fired on during the chase.

The two men, one of whom is Horace Frenck, 36, of Winnipeg, are in hospital with serious injuries. The pursuit started when detectives began to follow a speeding car. Two other police cars took up the pursuit.

Five miles west of Winnipeg the car being followed turned onto a storm-torn country road. Two miles down the side road it came to an intersection where, officers said, the driver apparently was unable to decide which road to follow.

The car sped off the road, landed in a ditch 42 feet away. It plowed through wet mud and came to rest 30 feet farther on, against a barbed wire fence. No weapon was found in the car or near the spot at which it smashed up.

Reports To Cabinet On Dollar Crisis

HON. D. C. ABBOTT

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott scheduled both a cabinet meeting and a press conference for today as he returned to Ottawa from the London talks on the Commonwealth dollar crisis.

He will report to the cabinet at 4:30 p.m. E.D.T., two hours after meeting reporters.

Mr. Abbott is expected to give the cabinet a full report on the London talks and on the impact of the Commonwealth sterling bloc's decision to slash dollar purchases 25 per cent. The cabinet, in turn, has been awaiting his return before proceeding with final study of steps to curtail imports from the United States.

Envoys Of Britain, U.S. May See Stalin

BERLIN (UP)—The Soviet Army organ Tagliche Rundschau said today in a Moscow dispatch that the U.S. and British Ambassadors there were seeking an interview with Premier Stalin.

The dispatch gave no reason for the proposed interview. It said Admiral Alan G. Kirk, new U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, "believes such a high level contact would be of great value to the future relations between the Soviet Union and the United States."

British Ambassador David Kelly talked with Stalin earlier this week.

C.S.U. Chief Says Two Vessels, Cause Of Tie-Up, Now Free

LONDON (UP)—Striking dock workers voted today to end the 25-day-old walkout which paralyzed the Port of London, provoked a major internal battle in the Labor government and forced the cabinet to ask for a "state of emergency" from King George.

A mass meeting of more than 3,000 workers passed a resolution for the 15,500 strikers to return to work at 7.45 a.m. Monday.

The break in the strike came shortly after Britain's Labor government detained two Americans and one Dutch national on charges that they were sent to England as "Communist agents" to block settlement of the strike.

The Americans were identified as Louis Goldblatt, 39, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast branch of the National Maritime Union, and John Maletta, 43, a member of the executive committee of the National Maritime Union.

The Dutch national was identified as Johann Frederik Blankenbeek, 37, secretary of the General Maritime Union of Holland.

The return-to-work vote was taken at an open air meeting teeming with plainclothesmen dispatched to the scene by Scotland Yard with strict orders to crack down on Communist hecklers.

A compromise settlement with the Canadian Seamen's Union led to the agreement to end the strike—which started when the longshoremen refused to work on two struck Canadian ships in the Port of London.

The settlement meant that more than 10,000 troops who have been unloading food and supplies for a crisis-ridden Britain will be pulled off the docks.

Trio To Be Deported By Air

Home Secretary James Chuter Ede told the House of Commons that he had ordered deportation of the alleged Communist agents because he was convinced "their visit was connected with the dispute at the London docks."

Authoritative sources said the three would be deported by air this afternoon.

No mention of their detention was made at the meeting at which the strikers decided to return to work.

World Federation of Trade Union Headquarters in Paris said Goldblatt and Maletta had left there for London after attending a two-day conference of the administrative committee of the Trade Unions International of Seamen's and Dockers' which ended in the French capital Thursday.

The W.F.T.U. said the men left shortly after the committee passed a resolution to declare a complete international boycott of all ships handled by non-strikers.

Officials of the U.S. embassy said the two men had made no representations for consular aid and added that the British had not informed them that Goldblatt and Maletta were detained.

Closer To Russia

PRAGUE (AP)—A government spokesman said today Czechoslovakia moving into tighter collaboration with Russia because of "concentrated attacks against us by the Vatican and reactionary governments."

Albino Trapped

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP)—An albino groundhog, the second one reported in this district, was trapped by Hugh Gordon of Beachville recently. The animal will be turned over to the Ontario department of lands and forests as a specimen.

Many Opportunities

PRINCE RUPERT (BUP)—Canadians have a better chance of succeeding at home than they have in the United States.

That was the opinion expressed by Laurence Steinhardt, U.S. ambassador to Canada, as he passed through Prince Rupert en route to Alaska today.

"It may take longer to win success, but the field is much more open in Canada and competition less severe," Steinhardt said.

The ambassador and his family are on a three-week vacation. Next Tuesday the Steinhardts will return to Prince Rupert on their way back east, via Jasper.

Canadian Election Experts To Aid Colombia Officials

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has been asked to advise Colombia on its tangled electoral set-up in time for the South American country's election next May, and will send two experts.

Nelson Castonguay, 35, executive assistant to his father Jules, chief electoral officer, will leave by plane next Wednesday. He will spend a month in Colombia, explaining the Canadian voting procedure to Colombia.

At the same time, retired Assistant Commissioner Herbert Darling of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will leave his Edmonton home for Colombia. He will advise on the national registration system, including finger-printing.

The request for the services of Castonguay was first made in April. Castonguay handled most of the details of the June 27 election because his father is ailing.

Dr. Eduardo Zuleta Angel, Foreign Minister of Colombia, made a special trip to Ottawa, which ended Thursday, to persuade the Canadian government to have Castonguay make the trip.

The South American country keeps a permanent list of its electors, whereas under the Canadian system enumerators are used just before each election.

Aftermath Of Tornado

This is what happened to Cheneville, Que., when for three minutes a tornado lashed the village of 600 persons 50 miles northwest of Ottawa. The wreckage of a sawmill is seen in the foreground. The roof was torn from the house across the road and the roofs of 50 other houses in the little town. The 80-foot top section of the church steeple in the background was hurled to the ground. The losses were estimated at more than $150,000, but no one was seriously injured.—(CP Photo)

French Police Guard Assembly As It Debates

PARIS (AP)—A force of about 250 police guarded the French National Assembly today as debate opened on ratification of the Atlantic Pact. Normally, about 70 police guard the building. Officials said the increase in the guard force was made to prevent possible demonstrations. Legislative leaders were reported considering plans to put over the major part of the debate until Monday so as to give Foreign Minister Robert Schuman more time tomorrow with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain. Bevin is passing through on his way to a vacation in the south of France. Earlier plans had called for winding up ratification debate by tomorrow night. A favorable vote seems assured.

Convict Sought For Killing Of Aged Tacoma Couple

TACOMA (AP)—A warrant charging first degree murder has been issued for a 32-year-old ex-convict, who is still at large after the brutal slaying of an elderly Tacoma couple. Chief Deputy Prosecutor Martin L. Potter said today. John Summers, a neighbor of the slain pair, whose bodies were discovered Thursday night on a lonely road in the Naches Mountain Pass, thus became the target of an intensified search throughout the western states. He is known to be heavily armed. The dark-haired handsome Summers was released less than a month ago from the state prison at Walla Walla after serving 18 months on a 20-year forgery charge. He had a previous prison record in Illinois, Potter said.

Road Block Fails To Halt Bandit

VANCOUVER (CP)—A road block of private autos, arranged in Vancouver early today by city hall employee George Gould, failed to arrest the flight of a taxi cab bandit. But a flat tire did the trick. The gunman had taxi driver Ken Wade drive him to the Kitsilano district, then flashed his revolver. He refused the money Wade was willing to hand over and sped away in the cab. Wade flagged down Gould and was getting a ride back to his office when his stolen cab approached on Broadway. The cab had a flat tire but the bandit still drove it. Gould gave chase. The thief stopped and got out of the disabled cab at Eighth and Vine Streets and fled. Gould flagged down six autos and formed a road block, but the gunman escaped.

Douks Who Leave B.C. Must Comply With Exit Rules

OTTAWA (BUP)—The 5,000 Doukhobors in British Columbia will have to comply with normal regulations when they leave this country, but they will probably run into few difficulties, it was learned here today. The Immigration Department said they were concerned with people entering the country, but once they had arrived they were free to leave again any time they liked. The External Affairs Department said it had no particular interest in the matter. It would be up to the Doukhobors themselves to get the necessary passports and visas needed for the exodus, officials said. The Trade Department said anyone could take his personal belongings with him when he emigrated from Canada. But if he wanted to take things that could not be considered as part of his personal belongings, he would need an export permit. The Mennonites who left for Paraguay last year had no trouble in this regard, officials said. The chief difficulty facing the militant religious sect seemed likely to come from the Foreign Exchange Control Board. If they decided to go to a country in the sterling area, they would have no trouble taking their capital with them. However, if they went to a country in the dollar bloc they would only be allowed to take a limited amount of money with them. Government officials here had no comment on the decision of the Doukhobors to seek a new home. "This is a free country, and if people would rather go and live elsewhere they are at liberty to do so," officials said. (See story, "Doukhobors Talk," page 6.)

Orthodox Doukhobors Not Quitting Canada

BRILLIANT, B.C. (CP)—John Verigin, spiritual leader of the orthodox Doukhobors, has no plans for a trek of his followers from Canada. "We are not discussing departure," he said today in an interview. "We have no intention of leaving the country." Verigin heads the major faction of the 14,000-member religious sect. The orthodox group terms itself the Union of Spiritual Communities of Christ. Members of a radical faction, the Sons of Freedom, have been urged by their leaders to "migrate east to either Soviet Russia or Turkey."

Execution Aug. 10

LONDON (AP)—The Home Office today fixed Aug. 10 as the date for the hanging of John George Haigh, who boasted he had killed nine persons in four years and drunk their blood. Haigh, a 33-year-old businessman, will go to the gallows at Wandsworth Prison in London unless the King intervenes with a commutation of sentence. He was convicted by a jury at Lewes, Sussex, Tuesday of murdering Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon, 69-year-old wealthy widow.

Alcan, Government Discussions End; Progress Reported

Four days of negotiation between the Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd. and the provincial government on the prices the company will pay British Columbia for resources used in its proposed huge development in the Tweedsmuir Park area have been completed. They are expected to be resumed after the officials taking part in the negotiations have reported to the company's head office in Montreal and to the provincial government. "We are getting close to getting together," said one provincial government official who had taken part in the discussions. Details of the proposals were not disclosed. The company is seeking water for a 1,500,000 horsepower Hydro-electric development to provide power for the world's largest aluminum refinery. Engineers are presently in the Tweedsmuir Park area investigating.

No New Canadian Loan For Britain Planned—Abbott

Red Army Quits Shanghai For Canton Front

CANTON (UP)—Some 150,000 Communist troops from Shanghai are moving southwestward in the general direction of the fighting zones in South China where the fate of Canton is expected to be decided, a Chinese Air Force report said today.

At the same time the Communist radio broadcast a series of charges against the United States.

They included:
1. The United States brought about the Nationalist blockade of Communist-held ports which has hurt the economy of Communist territory.
2. The United States planned to organize a "special international volunteer air force" to fight for the Nationalists.
3. The United States fostered formation of the Kuomintang Supreme Emergency Council which is "trying to prolong the Nationalists' dying struggle."

Maj.-Gen. Claire Chennault, now in Washington, was described as an "air pirate" trying to carry out U.S. "imperialism." The Communist broadcast said the "Chinese" people had the right to proclaim Chennault a war criminal if he participated in the civil war. Military sources here said Hengyang, some 275 miles north west of Canton, was the most likely scene of the expected first climactic battle for South China.

Still Seek Loot From Larder Lake

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont. (CP)—Manager Albert Gary of the Imperial Bank branch, Larder Lake, said today $14,250 has not been recovered of the $13,057 stolen from the bank Tuesday. Larder Lake is 18 miles east of here. Leo Martial, 24, and Victor Desmarais, 23, both of Noranda, Que., have been charged with the armed robbery of the bank and will appear for preliminary hearing at Haliburton July 28. An attempt to escape by sea-plane was made after the bank had been held up and bank employees locked in the vault.

Alaska's Salmon Pack Off $3,000,000

JUNEAU (AP)—Alaska's salmon industry is going to take it on the chin for about $3,000,000 this year, H. B. Friele, president of the Nakat Packing Company, says. En route to Seattle from Bristol Bay, where the salmon season will close today, Friele predicted the Bristol Bay pack would run about 350,000 cases as compared with 1,300,000 last year. He blamed a bad season, plus regulations calling for an additional 42 hours' closure each week. Fishing was limited to 66 hours with a closure of 102 hours instead of the usual 60.

Dollar Problem Long-Term Plan Put To Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott this afternoon ruled out any further Canadian loan to Britain as an answer to the United Kingdom's dollar crisis. He told a press conference, prior to a meeting with the cabinet, that Britain's answer lies within her own economy—in her ability to produce goods that will sell at competitive rates anywhere in the world.

Mr. Abbott said he would lay before the cabinet proposals for a long-term solution to the dollar problem which he brought back from the London Commonwealth conference of Finance Ministers. He reiterated his warning that Canada must anticipate "appreciable" declines of sterling area purchases in this country because of the 25 per cent slash in dollar buying, but he eliminated any suspicion that Canada might be considering devaluation of her dollar because, he said, Canada would lose substantially by such action.

London's Dock Strike Ends As Ships Freed

The men are Indians and the nature of their illnesses are not known.

Signs Of Break In Ranks Of Striking Australia Miners

SYDNEY (Reuter)—Extra military convoys today were reported moving into strike-bound open-cut coal areas of New South Wales, where it is generally expected troops will begin working by Aug. 1 if the strike is not ended. Some observers believed there were signs of a crack among the ranks of striking miners in New South Wales, Australia's largest coal area. At a combined meeting of the Gunnedah and Curlew's lodges, to which the public was invited, a motion was carried "congratulating the Gunnedah miners on their move to end the strike." At Musselbrock, New South Wales, a resolution that strikers should agree to return to work by July 25 was rejected today in favor of an amendment that a meeting be held tomorrow to discuss "the calling of aggregate meetings with a view to ending the strike." Miners at West Wallsend after voting to continue the strike, surged around Australian Labor Party men speaking in the street.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

'GULD GEAR IN WEE BULK'

I DON'T KNOW how to pronounce nor am I sure how to translate the words with which this column is headed. But it is an old Scottish saying, applied by an Ayrshire paper to an old Scottish postwoman.

The clipping concerning her was sent me by a local reader of Scottish origin who was, no doubt, inspired by two reasons—first, pride in anything Scottish.

Second, an irresistible impulse to pay me out for my frequent jibes at the haggis and the pipes by pointing out the superiority of an old Scottish postwoman, as compared to an English one—in the person of Mrs. Tye—who recently fell from grace by opening letters in her care.

REMARKABLE RECORD

BUT WHATEVER her reasons, I am glad to make use of the news item for postwoman Mary Bryden of Dunaskin, Ayrshire, has a remarkable record which would stand up anywhere, and win her the approbation even of sordid Sassenachs.

For over 54 years Miss Bryden has been postwoman for that district, and is still making two deliveries daily, despite her age. Although due to retire some months ago, she agreed to carry on until a successor can be found.

When Mary started her duties as a girl in July, 1894, she did some 30 hours' duty weekly, at the rate of 6d (about 10 cents) an hour. At that time the district was a busy and quite heavily-populated one, as it was the centre of an iron industry, with furnaces going full blast.

IN ALL WEATHERS

HER DELIVERIES included the villages of Burnfoot and Lethanhill, as well as Dunaskin, and then, as now, she had to be out in all weathers, trudging with her big mailbag which was at least half as big as herself.

She recalls one snowstorm which was so heavy that she was unable to collect the mail at Lethanhill. But on another occasion, after being rescued from a snowdrift, she struggled through to Burnfoot, finding her way by the aid of a fence. The snowstorm of a few years ago was the worst in her recollection, the mails being several days late in reaching the village.

As she told the reporter of the Ayrshire paper, no matter what the weather, "H.M. mails always went through."

BRAVE BREADWINNER

THIS BRAVE little postwoman, weather-beaten and always cheerful, according to the article, has been the breadwinner of the home for many years.

My Victoria reader, who hails from that part of Scotland, well remembers Mary and recalls how devotedly she cared for her sick mother and father as well as looking after the mails in those days, and singing in the Waterside Church choir.

Now she looks after an invalid sister who has been confined to bed for many years. No wonder she is "held in high regard by all who recognize genuine worth and self-sacrificing efforts for others," as her home-town paper puts it.

OF PROVEN WORTH

IN THIS DAY and age when the tendency is to selfishness and to do less and less in return for more and more, there are some cynics who would look upon Postwoman Mary as a fool for doing what she has done over the last half-century.

Yet I don't doubt that this little Scottish "postie" has found her reward not only in the friends she has made and the high regard in which she is held by the whole community, but also in the satisfaction that comes of a job—no matter how humble—well done.

The world could do with more of Postwoman Mary's kind—sturdy, reliable, faithful and hard-working—the kind who, in fact, exemplify the truth of the old Scots saying of "Guld gear in wee bulk."

Girl's Body Found On Galiano Beach Still Unidentified

Provincial police today reported that the body of the girl, aged between 16 and 20 and five feet, six inches tall, found on the beach of Galiano Island, Wednesday night, has not yet been identified. The body is at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, awaiting identification.

Police said they felt sure that the body is not that of Miss Mabel Vaughan, who left Vancouver with her brother on a launch June 30 and has not been heard from since. Miss Vaughan is aged 30-odd years and is only five feet, two inches tall.

Police are checking lists of missing persons. They theorize that the girl may have been lost overboard from a launch or a steamer.

There are no signs of foul play, B.C. police say. The body did not appear to have been in the water long.

Moscow Radio Says Excommunication Part Of Cold War

LONDON (AP)—The Moscow radio charged today that Roman Catholic excommunication of Communists was a Vatican contribution to "the cold war that Anglo-American reactionaries are waging against the camp of peace and democracy."

It said the ban was intended "to split the united front of people fighting for peace against the Anglo-American warmongers," and added that it was bound to fail.

The English-language broadcast by commentator Boris Isakov was the first public Russian reaction to the excommunication decree of July 13.

Isakov said that by the decree "all the enormous ramified propaganda machinery of the Catholic Church is placed at the service of the 'cold war' that Anglo-American reactionaries are waging against the camp of peace and democracy."

The broadcast accused Roman Catholic clergy of "preying on the religious traditions and feelings of many plain people in an attempt to disarm them morally to weaken their will to resist the danger of a fresh aggression which is threatening the world."

'UNITED FRONT'

"But this manoeuvre is doomed to failure," the Moscow radio said. "The broad masses of the people have come to see very clearly that they can uphold peace only by drawing closer to each other, only through a staunch fight waged by a united front of working people irrespective of their religious convictions."

"Nobody will be able to split this unity," the broadcast said. It said the reason the Pope issued the ban on Communism "lies in the successful peace movement and the number of Catholic laymen and even priests taking part in it."

"Today the Vatican has taken its stand firmly on the side of the most extreme reaction," said the commentator. "The Holy See has not the slightest intention of excommunicating those who publicly call for a new war, for dropping atom bombs."

"On the contrary, the Vatican clique always managed to live in the greatest harmony with aggressive and Fascist chiefs. For example, Hitler's ally, Franco, stained with the blood of the Spanish people, is still in high favor with the Holy See."

The broadcast said "it can be taken for granted that the Vatican decree is actually directed not only against Communists. Any Catholic who picks up a newspaper or pamphlet defending the cause of peace and progress will be called an apostate and automatically come under the church's ban."

Isolationists Snowed Under As U.S. Senate Votes Atlantic Pact

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Overwhelming Senate approval of the North Atlantic treaty cleared the way today for President Truman's formal request that the United States help arm its European allies.

This highly-controversial plan calls for more than a $1,000,000,000 worth of arms during the next 12 months. Truman was scheduled to send Congress a message on it during the day.

Later it was announced action on the arms program would be delayed to Monday.

The President's proposal was expected to provide a bar against giving European countries atom bombs. It was understood the government bill would supercede the Atomic Energy Act, which forbids release of atomic explosives.

VOTE 83 TO 13

The 20-year treaty won through to ratification late Thursday by vote of 82 to 13 after administration leaders had given repeated assurances that Senators who voted for the pact would not be obligated to vote for the arms bill. This means that now in urging passage of the bill the administration apparently will not be able to use any suggestion of obligation as an argument for favorable action.

On its face, the treaty is not a specific defence against any particular aggressor but its primary purpose is to provide security for the Western European countries against any attack by Russia.

MAKES HISTORY

The 12 signers agree that they will regard any attack on one as an attack on all. For the first time in history, the United States is joining with European countries in a military alliance.

All the member countries are to join together in developing, as soon as possible, a grand strategy of defence for the west. Efforts by Senators Robert Taft (Rep., Ohio), Kenneth Wherry (Rep., Neb.), and Arthur Watkins (Rep., Utah), to tack reservations to the treaty were defeated.

President Truman, having now obtained Senate consent to the treaty in accordance with the constitution, is expected to ratify the pact formally early next week by signing it. Only the ratifications of France and the Netherlands will then be needed to put the alliance into force. Those are expected in about two weeks.

Britain, Canada, Belgium and Luxembourg, of the seven original drafting powers, already have ratified the pact.

BILLION INVOLVED

A total of $1,450,000,000 is involved in the arms-to-Europe plan for the first year. The government wants authority to furnish $1,130,000,000 worth of arms to other countries in the Atlantic Pact and $320,000,000 worth to countries such as Greece and Turkey, which are outside the pact.

The treaty debate in the Senate made it certain that the arms proposal would encounter far more opposition than the treaty itself. Some members of the Foreign Affairs Committee in the House of Representatives—which gets the proposal first—say it hasn't a chance of approval at this session. Others are calling for all possible speed.

POINTS OF CRITICISM

Critics have assailed the proposal as the beginning of an arms race with Russia, as a possible incitement to some aggressive Russian move, and as an aggressive action in itself in contrast to the defensive nature of the treaty. Some have said that American arms, if furnished European countries might fall into Russian hands for possible use against the United States.

Some critics have assailed the treaty as being contrary to the interests of the United Nations. Acheson and Truman, as well as Republican foreign policy leaders, have contended that it is wholly within the United Nations' charter and will strengthen the work of that organization in behalf of world peace and security.

Ford Workers Prepare For Strike; 75,000 Affected

DETROIT (AP)—Final moves are under way to enable the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.) to pull the Ford Motor Company production employees out on a wage strike.

Michigan's Labor Mediation Board is preparing for a secret strike poll of the 75,000 Ford workers in this state.

A strike to back up current wage and contract demands—including $100-a-month pensions—already has been approved in a U.A.W.-conducted vote among 106,000 Ford employees.

That poll showed that they are 7 to 1 in favor of a walkout. If necessary, although they were told for 24 days in a speed-up strike that shut down Ford plants in May.

But the state balloting is necessary to comply with terms of Michigan's labor law.

In other states, the strike vote conducted by the union is ample authorization for a walkout, and

Ford workers may be called out by the U.A.W. executive board at any time.

The U.A.W. filed a 10-day strike notice with the Mediation Board Thursday, but said it would take no walkout action until the vote was completed. That may require three weeks, Board Chairman Noel P. Fox said.

Once such a vote is taken, there will be no legal barrier in the way of a strike.

Economic obstacles, too, are being cleared away by the union. Last week at Milwaukee, the Auto Workers' International convention approved a special assessment which could build up a $10,000,000 strike fund.

Ford has been singled out by the U.A.W. as its first target in a drive for health and welfare benefits and a fourth-round wage increase as well as the pensions. The Ford contract expired July 15, but is being continued on a day to day basis.

Churchill Sights Guns For New Blast At Labor Govt.

LONDON (AP)—Winston Churchill—fresh from a clash with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin—is reading a new blast at the Labor government.

The wartime Prime Minister, now leader of the Conservative Opposition, will make a major speech on general policy tomorrow before an expected 50,000 listeners at Wolverhampton.

The speech is timed to coincide with a Conservative statement of policy looking forward to the 1950 election.

Churchill has been warming up for the campaign for several months with sharp blasts at the Labor regime.

Last May, in an assault on the government's policies, the former Prime Minister charged that the logical end of Socialism in Britain is a Communist-like state.

He accused the government of having "derided and reviled" the capitalist economic system of the United States.

AUTUMN ELECTION?

In another address Churchill called on the Conservatives to mobilize for a possible general election this fall.

The Opposition leader voiced confidence that the Conservatives can take next year's election.

Churchill and Bevin tangled Thursday during a foreign-policy debate in the House of Commons. Both wound up voicing misgivings about President Roosevelt's policy of unconditional surrender toward Germany.

Bevin first raised the point. Churchill charged that he did so with a view to throwing some invidious burden on me personally.

Bevin, whose health is poor, is expected to leave with his wife tonight for a two-week rest at the French lake resort of Evian.

Both he and Churchill are to attend the first meeting of the Council of Europe at Strasbourg on Aug. 8.

U.K. Seeking Joint Action To Prevent Violent Price Drops

ANNECY, France (AP)—Britain Thursday proposed immediate international action to prevent a violent decline on commodity prices.

British delegate R. J. Shackleton urged the 23-member countries of the Geneva 1947 tariff agreement to put into immediate effect one of the chapters of the pigeon-holed Havana trade charter, which would permit the 23 countries to take joint action to prevent violent price drops.

The Havana charter was adopted at the Havana trade conference last year, but has thus far been ratified only by Liberia, and conditionally, by Australia. Chapter 6 of the charter would provide for consultation among the signatory governments to prevent violent price fluctuations.

Shackleton's proposal to set up chapter 6 of the charter independently as a separate treaty among the member states of the Geneva agreement was being discussed by a meeting of the 23 delegations here today.

Trial of Richard C. Martin, 1523 Regents Place, on a charge of dangerous driving, was completed in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon and was remanded to July 28 for judgment by Magistrate H. C. Hall. W. H. M. Haldane appeared as counsel. According to testimony of Constable Robert Coleman, a car Martin admitted he had been driving went off the road and crashed into an embankment at Shelbourne Street at Mount Douglas Crossroad, causing $1,000 damage to the vehicle. The officer said there were skid marks for 227 feet.

Provincial Grants For Libraries Asked

Provincial grants for local library services were recommended Thursday to the provincial government by the Trail City Council.

The council claims that public libraries are basically educational institutions as essential in the scheme of public education as public schools; that the government should treat the two branches of education on the same basis and that the 1945 program for library development in British Columbia had recommended assistance by the province on a sliding scale for local library authorities.

Engineer Saved 150; Suffered Burns Which May Cause Death

MONTEBELLO, Calif. (AP)—His clothing burning on his body, an engineer Thursday rode his train through a gigantic wall of flames and saved his 150 passengers from harm.

H. E. Byers, 55, Las Vegas, Nev., was at the throttle of the Union Pacific's streamliner, "The City of Los Angeles," when it struck a 7,300-gallon gasoline tank truck and touched off an explosion heard for miles. The driver of the truck was fatally burned.

Flames roared hundreds of feet into the air, witnesses said. Byers stayed at the controls and pulled his train through the fire, although flames sweeping in through the window ate the clothing away from his upper torso.

He is not expected to live, said attendants at the general hospital here.

Edward N. Dennis, 45, Las Vegas, Nev., the other engineer in the cab of the diesel engine, suffered hand burns while freeing Byers from the controls.

B.C. Etchings To Be Exhibited In Sweden By Visiting Artist

Sweden will get a good eyeful of British Columbia when Malte Sterner, K.E.S., famous drypoint etcher, returns to his native land.

The tall, friendly artist, on a visit to Victoria, has made hundreds of etchings of pictorial scenes in the province and Vancouver Island. He intends to exhibit his etchings in the Canadian Legation in Stockholm upon his return to Sweden.

The visitor, accompanied by his charming Toronto-born wife, Jean, was discovered seated by the War Memorial making a sketch of the Legislative Buildings.

"This is one of the most beautiful legislative buildings I've seen in Canada," he said as he worked swiftly with his pencil on paper. "I could spend a lifetime on Vancouver Island and I would still find plenty of subjects to sketch."

He explained that he came to Canada with the full intention of returning to Sweden in six weeks following an exhibition of his works in Toronto. But then things began to happen, he related. He was married in Toronto on St. Valentine's Day and by the time he got to Winnipeg on his honeymoon trip, he decided to throw his whole traveling schedule overboard.

"I've been in Canada for over a year and a half now," he said. "And I'm still not, on my way home."

MANY PICTURES HANGING

Mr. Sterner, who studied at the Royal Academy of Stockholm, has many of his pictures hanging in many galleries in Europe, in private and university collections and the National Gallery in Ottawa. During his tour of Canada he has exhibited his works in Ottawa, Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver, Toronto and Quebec.

Like all Swedes, Mr. Sterner likes good black coffee, is fond of walking and meeting and talking to people. He will tramp miles in search of a choice bit of scenery to sketch.

Mr. Sterner was born at Gothenburg. His parents wanted him to become a horticulturist and often reprimanded him for sketching when he should have been solving a mathematical problem. After attending agricultural college he studied art.

As a youth, Mr. Sterner and two college companions toured the European continent like a group of troubadours, selling their paintings to pay their traveling expenses. They even managed to gain admittance into Russia in 1919 just after the revolution. "What happened there," he was asked.

"They chased us out," he replied, "and confiscated all our sketches."

Though he chose art instead of horticulture, Mr. Sterner showed that he was still fond of plants. He praised the flowers and shrubs of Victoria.

"Do you see that variegated holly," he said. "That is very rare. I couldn't help taking a piece from the bush without asking permission."

Mrs. Sterner, a former University of Toronto student, said she was enjoying being the spouse of an artist. "I've always wanted to travel and see things," she said. "I'm certainly getting an opportunity now."

She likes collecting relics of ancient civilization and studying the folklore of different races.

THREE DAYS TO SKETCH

Mr. Sterner carries with him on his travels his equipment for making his drypoint etchings. In making an etching, he may take as long as three days to sketch his subject on paper first.

He explained that drypoint was the term applied to the sharp etching needle when it is used to incise the copper plate in fine lines without the plate being covered with an etching ground of wax or varnish. There is no biting into the plate by acid in using this method, he said.

From his pencil sketch he scratches directly into the plate, producing a fine line or heavy line, depending on the pressure he exerts and the size or cut of the tool. The tool, in cutting into the plate throws up, on either side of the line, a fine burr comparable to the ridges of earth thrown up by a plow. This burr may be left to catch the ink when printing and it registers in a pleasant soft block tone around the edge of the incised line.

Drypoint requires a great deal of skill. The artist must have a clear idea of his drawing and composition well integrated in his mind, because once scratched on the plate it is difficult to make corrections. The finished work has many distinctive qualities making it quite different from other methods of etching.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterner intend to visit Alaska and the Yukon before returning home. "But don't ask us when we are leaving Victoria," they said. "We have lost all idea of time now."

B.C. Scouts Enact History Of Province At Jamboree

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont. (CP)—Some 3,000 Canadian Boy Scouts shouldn't have much trouble with history examinations when they return home next week from the First Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree.

They've seen graphic portrayals of the early days of British Columbia, Manitoba and the Maritime Provinces, staged at the Connaught Ranges, 14 miles west of Ottawa.

Scouts from British Columbia—425 of them—with props and equipment brought from the west coast provinces, depicted its history and industries.

They showed Captain George Vancouver, who discovered Vancouver Island in 1792, being greeted by Cowichan Indians. The Scouts had learned authentic Indian dances for the display and, appearing as an Indian chief, Ted Howard of Victoria sang a song of welcome in the Cowichan dialect.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie and Simon Fraser were there on their voyages of exploration.

Ian Edgar of West Vancouver depicted Lord Strathcona, first president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in ceremonials recalling the driving of the last spike of the transcontinental line.

Then a power-driven saw sliced through a big section of a Douglas fir and scouts dressed as prospectors enacted the Cariboo gold rush of the late 19th century.

They showed the province's main industries. Then the entire cast paraded in the big assembly area with flags flying and plaques spelling out the name of their province.

ONTARIO DISPLAY

Earlier, the camp had watched Ontario forest rangers demonstrate the latest techniques of fighting forest fires.

The spectators were reminded by 29 Prince Edward Island scouts that Charlottetown is the birthplace of the Dominion.

The Prince Edward Island potato, the colorful history of New Brunswick, and the Scots ancestry of Nova Scotia, all had a part in the contributions by scouts from those provinces.

MINISTER ATTENDED

Acting Prime Minister Howe, who represents Port Arthur in the Commons, visited the Port Arthur delegation in the camp Thursday, was made an honorary scoutmaster of the troop and ate a barbecued dinner cooked under the supervision of the son of a political rival.

The cook, John Dagsvik Jr., is the son of the unsuccessful Social Credit candidate in Port Arthur, John E. Dagsvik, in the federal election last month.

Today the Ontario contingent of 941 scouts offered an historical pageant in the big assembly area.

The Next-of-Kin Association will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. C. E. Duke, 94 Crease Avenue, Monday evening at 8.

Ontario Farmers Suggest Long-Term Low-Interest Loans

WALKERTON, Ont. (CP)—

That old question of how to "keep 'em down on the farm" has come up again, this time before the Ontario Legislature's select committee on conservation.

Answers suggested in a Bruce County brief presented to the committee at a hearing Thursday included financial assistance through long-term, low-interest loans and supervision "similar to that being given by the Veterans' Land Act."

Farm groups in this old, rich agricultural section of the province expressed concern that few young men are taking over as owners of farms. They said in the brief that many good farms are going out of production because young would-be farmers lack money and credit needed for a satisfactory start. Farms revert to pasture, or are rented or share-cropped.

With farmers' sons—and daughters—gone to seek city jobs, not only did the district suffer loss of prosperity but the land itself often fell victim to practices which lent themselves to soil depletion, or erosion.

The brief called for legislation to prevent what it called the "robbing" of the land experienced with renting, share-cropping and absentee ownership. It said sharecroppers, renters and absentee owners were interested mainly in taking as much as possible out of the land in the shortest possible time without regard for the future productivity of the soil.

Bruce County farmers' group also asked that further investigation be made into the nutritional value of both human and livestock foods produced on various types of soil and that some direction be given to correct deficiencies.

TWO APPOINTMENTS

THE RESULTS OF PREMIER BYRON
Johnson's very extensive knowledge of this province—its people and its local conditions—may be seen in his choice of ministers to fill the two important portfolios of Labor and Agriculture in the Coalition government. Apart from the obvious qualifications of the two new cabinet members, the appointments indicate a careful regard for adequate geographical representation of all parts of British Columbia in the cabinet, and a full understanding of the personal abilities required for the capable conduct of two vital administrative posts. Mr. Johnson's selection of the new incumbents should find favor with all sections of the province. They are men to whom we may look for worthy records of public service.

Hon. John Henry Cates, who will take over direction of the Department of Labor, has a long record of successful participation in the business and community life of British Columbia, and his relations with labor—he is president and managing-director of a Vancouver towboat company—have been such as to set an example for many other industrial and commercial enterprises. As a member of the Legislature for North Vancouver since the general election of 1945, he has shown himself to be, in the words of the Premier, "a good parliamentarian and of sound judgment in reaching decisions affecting the public's welfare." Labor legislation and administration are of paramount importance in these turbulent times, and the portfolio has been a heavy additional burden on Attorney-General Wismer since ill-health forced Labor Minister Pearson to relinquish some of his daily tasks. For the first time, the department now will have a minister whose efforts are not shared with other official responsibilities, and we may confidently expect Capt. Cates to mark up a very successful term of office.

Similar predictions may be made in regard to Hon. Henry R. Bowman, who succeeds Mr. Frank Putnam—now retiring to private life after many years of service to the province—as Minister of Agriculture. The new cabinet member's professional merits have been fully covered in the news columns; his record as university graduate, cattle breeder, agricultural district administrator and expert consultant indicate a wide background of experience and achievement in his field. As newly-elected member of the Legislature for Fort George, Mr. Bowman will bring to the House and to his department a detailed knowledge of the needs of an industry that is one of British Columbia's greatest sources of wealth. And he will bring, too, an appreciation of the great interior area which he understands so intimately. We may thank the electors of his riding for having sent to Victoria a representative so well qualified to assume responsibilities of provincial scope.

ON THE WAY

ALDERMEN WHOSE VOTES WERE effective in advancing a by-law which provides for an agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for construction of an additional 100 low-rent houses will receive the commendation of most citizens, and particularly those who have at heart the welfare of war veterans. The new homes, when the plan is implemented, will aid considerably in relieving the housing shortage which is so acute at the present time. It is a case in which urgent need takes priority over minor considerations of procedure, and actions speak much more clearly than words.

TOO MUCH AND TOO LITTLE

CANADIANS, BRITONS, AND AMERICANS are becoming increasingly worried about what, for short, may be called the "dollar-sterling" crisis. Crisis may not be the right term to apply to the economic condition of the world as the man in the street sees it and tries to understand it. The people of the British Isles were told by eminent statesmen after the conclusion of the Napoleonic wars that all they could look forward to would be the bleakest of austerity—that, in short, everything was lost. It did not turn out that way. First came the Reform Act, and subsequent evolutionary processes with their manifestations of democratic progress and, finally, the universal franchise under whose dispensation the ordinary people could make their views known through the ballot box.

Some may ask what these historical facts have to do with an irritating condition which the statesmen of the free world have to deal at this juncture of history. It is not easy to find a convincing answer. At the same time, the layman—the John Smith on the street—well may inquire why it is that Canada and the United States, plus the other lands whose people have put their all into the effort to circumvent another war, now find themselves up against an economic brick wall without the requisite facilities to scale it. But, or so it seems to us, our neighbor on the southern side of the 49th parallel may be in a position to give the necessary shove. Let us be frank about this matter.

The United States has most of the gold in the world. She has a large amount of dollars, many of which she is using, admittedly, to carry out the basic designs of President Truman's famous "Point Four"—a cardinal policy which committed our great neighbor to those humanitarian ventures the implementation of which would help the free world to guard itself against the encroachments of the 'isms that still constitute the main threat to the Four Freedoms. While it will become the layman to wade out into the deep waters of economics, it is surely permitted to ask why, particularly at this juncture, the qualified representatives of the free world who are demanding the establishment of a lasting peace do not get together to try to see what can be done to balance the legitimate financial requirements of the honest have-nots with those equally honest haves.

NOTICE TO ALL

MEN AND WOMEN ON BOTH SIDES of the Atlantic today are feeling deep gratification as a result of the United States Senate's overwhelming vote to ratify the Atlantic Pact. As a leading instigator of the plan to unite the Atlantic community of free nations in an association to deter and oppose possible aggressors, it was inevitable that the great republic should give official approval to the Pact. But it was equally necessary that full opportunity for criticism be afforded—a condition supplied by the past 13 days of heated debate in Washington.

The sweeping support now accorded the measure—the 82 to 13 division was 18 more than the required two-thirds majority—should serve as a guarantee to the people of western Europe that the United States is wholly behind the Atlantic defensive program. Any doubts occasioned by a misunderstanding of the American system of open discussion should now have been removed. Yesterday's action brings to five the number of original Pact sponsors that have ratified the treaty—Canada, it will be recalled, having been the first—plus three other countries that entered the arrangement at a later date.

In addition to its effect in strengthening the defensive alliance, the Senate's approval marks a further application of the United States' bi-partisan foreign policy that was inaugurated during the war days largely as a result of the work of Mr. Cordell Hull. It serves notice to all who are interested that the United States will continue to present a united front in the face of war threats, whether hot or cold. And it shows the determination of our neighbor to achieve global security even at the expense of setting a historical precedent by entering into a binding commitment with overseas nations. A new page of world history was opened yesterday.

MERITS ENCOURAGEMENT

A PROVINCE WHICH WAS SADLY tardy in recognizing the genius of the late Miss Emily Carr, and which is slowly coming to realize the creative possibilities of Mr. Jack Shadbolt, appears to be making sure that the outstanding abilities of another British Columbia artist—19-year-old Judith Phyllis Morgan—shall not be similarly overlooked. There will be general approval of the action of the provincial government in purchasing five of the Indian girl's paintings to become part of the Archives' permanent collection. And there will be an accompanying feeling of gratification that 20 of her pictures are being sent to Ottawa for a one-man show in the National Museum.

Miss Morgan is not the first member of her race to add lustre to the artistic record of this province, and those who, from time to time, have viewed the drawing skills of some of the younger Indian art students would be moved to predict that she will not be the last. This is a movement that deserves every public support, and the province's purchase of Miss Morgan's work sets a very worthy precedent.

HIGHER MATHEMATICS

IT WAS TO BE EXPECTED THAT THE Italian Communist leader, Palmiro Togliatti, would do everything in his power to prevent passage of a bill in the Italian Chamber of Deputies ratifying the participation of that country in the Atlantic Pact. But the circumstances of the first vote taken yesterday by the Chamber occasions some amused speculation in western minds as to what may have transpired in the secrecy of the balloting, for, with 469 deputies voting, 546 ballots were counted in the box. A total of 338 of them were in favor of the Pact and 208 against it, compared with a second vote which recorded 323 ayes and 160 noes.

At first glance it would seem that in their enthusiasm, at least 15 Pact supporters had voted twice and more than 48 Togliatti followers had each put in two negative ballots to help along their cause. But the official explanation was that the invalidated vote was "an error" caused by the fact that the deputies were simultaneously voting on two other minor bills. All the same, there must have been a few red ears in the Chamber and some searching looks directed at the scrutineers. Partisan enthusiasm is all right, but . . .

NOT VERY LIGHT SUMMER READING
SINCE NOTHING spectacular has happened, it may look as if the British crisis were one of those things that can be left to the finance ministers and their experts to worry about and work out.

They will have to make their proposals by September. The issues they will have to meet are as yet veiled. They are wrapped up in the jargon of technical finance which, because it is uninteresting and generally unintelligible, excites no strong feelings. But the issues themselves are not soluble by the financial experts alone. For the choices that confront the experts, the decisions that the governments must take, are passionate and dangerous. They are certain to touch deeply the popular standard of life in most of western Europe. And they could, indeed they may, touch the way of life in the western community of free nations.

THERE IS a question which, in my view at least, we must always have in mind. It is how much shock and strain the political order and the international system of the Atlantic community is now able to withstand. There is ahead of us the shock and strain of a great crisis in the internal and external relations of Britain and of western Germany, which will have far-reaching consequences everywhere. We can, it seems to me, have real confidence that the crisis will not provoke an international war. The American guarantee against military aggression, which is recorded in the Atlantic Pact, may be counted on as an effective deterrent against war in Europe. We may also be reasonably confident that if military intervention by the Red Army is precluded, the people of western Europe will not turn to the Communists to lead them out of the economic crisis.

BUT, ON THE OTHER hand, the coming ordeal of the West is one with which democratic institutions are not well suited to deal. Rarely, if ever, has a democratic government met successfully the issues which the bigger European industrial nations are now facing. Nor is the ordeal one which causes free nations to unite and to co-operate against their troubles. It tends rather to a policy of each for himself and the devil takes the hindmost.

So if we believe, as I think we may, that Soviet imperialism and revolutionary communism are held in check, there will still be in grave jeopardy democratic institutions in important parts of the western world and the international solidarity of the whole western community.

THE HEART of the crisis is in the demonstration that even with the Marshall Plan and with our contributions to western Germany, the western countries cannot avoid a serious reduction in their standard of life. The persistent and growing "dollar deficit" records the ugly fact that western Europe is living beyond its income. The American subsidy is, as Sir Stafford Cripps has disclosed, no longer sufficient to make up the difference between what Britain is spending and what she is earning, between what she is consuming and what she is producing. But Britain is not alone. No other large western European country is anywhere near being able to support its present standard of life by what it earns.

THEREFORE, the basic choice is a bigger American subsidy continued for a longer time, or a reduction in the standard of life in western Europe. It is here that we must calculate the risks. For while we cannot prevent a reduction, we probably can cushion the shock and the strain of the unavoidable reduction. If we can, we shall have a high interest to do that.

For it will soon become evident that to reduce the standard of life of a nation is not like cutting down the expenditures of an individual. The critical difference is that when a nation has to cut down, a struggle is precipitated among groups, interests, and classes as to how the sacrifice shall be distributed, how the reduced income shall be shared.

THIS STRUGGLE is a terrible test of free institutions. And while we may have confidence and faith that the British and the Scandinavians with their long experience of freedom can meet the test, who could dare hope that the Germans, to take the hardest case, can and will meet it?

After the First World War it was the struggle for the distribution of sacrifices which produced in western Europe not communism but fascism and various sorts of authoritarianism.

Speaking of the British crisis, Sir Stafford Cripps told Parliament that "the government and the nation are pledged to a policy of maintaining full employment and protecting our present standard of living." Almost certainly that pledge cannot be made good in the crisis which Britain now faces. Nevertheless, the British trades unions are not likely to give up without an attempt to make good the pledge.

IF THE ATTEMPT is made, it will unavoidably take the form of more socialism, more controls, and more drastic measures to monopolize the markets. That will subdivide further the western economy into closed and depressed areas, and impair deeply its international solidarity.

I do not think I am overstating the seriousness of the situation which is developing. The hard facts are very hard, and there is not much time left to prepare our minds—and then our policies—and then our measures. For the crisis may determine whether in the Atlantic community recovery and reconstruction are to be combined with freedom and unity.

Welcome To Utopia

Heath Questions Policy

TWO years ago, the United States still had two choices in Indonesia. Desiring a stable, strong, friendly government as a bulwark against communism, it could have chosen the Republic—which it did—or the Federalists.

FACE VALUE

The State Department took the Republicans at their own face value. It ignored the collaborationist wartime records of President Sukarno and Vice-president Hatta. It waived the very strong infiltration of Moscow-trained Communists, most of them now dead or gone, but all then in high places. It accepted as democrats a self-appointed oligarchy which had never even gone through the pretence of democratic processes—and has not to this day.

The State Department, and the United Nations under American leadership, refused to listen to a delegation of four very eminent Indonesians who went to the U.S. to tell the world that the Republic did not represent all of Indonesia, but only one part.

A group of American newsmen, circulating freely through the islands, has been trying unsuccessfully to discover who supplied the State Department with the information on which this course was based.

Only two things have been established beyond doubt. One is that representatives of the State Department here actively resent the coming of American newsmen, who almost unanimously condemn the State Department's Indonesian policy as a menace to American security.

(The last of four articles from Batavia, Java, by S. Burton Heath, NEA Staff Correspondent, who was killed in the recent Bombay plane crash.)

REPORTS DISTORTED

The other is that American and Australian junior officers, assigned as field observers for the United Nations, are convinced that their factual reports are being distorted before they are passed on to Washington, Canberra and Lake Success. They say it is useless to submit anti-Republican or pro-Dutch reports.

These reports pass through the hands of Australian Brigadier C. E. Prior and U.S. Colonel W. B. Carlock, whose responsibility it is to blend them into a homogeneous picture of what is going on.

There is no question, in the mind of anybody who has traveled around these islands, that all the Indonesians want independence, as quickly as possible.

There is no question—even the Dutch here admit it—that the Dutch have been most inept in handling a touchy situation and in presenting their side of the controversy to the world.

The question, for Indonesia, was simple: Should the self-appointed Republic oligarchy, representing principally Java, impose a unified national state on some 39 other nationalities, scattered over an area almost as big as the U.S.? Without even hearing the other side, the U.S. answered that one "yes."

SIMPLE QUESTION

The question for the United States, also, was simple: Should the changeover be in the hands of a moderate group—free alike from Jap-collaboration and from Stalinism—that would welcome advice and assistance while they were getting on their own feet? Or should it be in the hands of Sukarno-Hatta, who wants every Dutchman out at once, and cannot conceive of needing help from the U.S.?

The State Department chose Sukarno and Hatta.

'Underground' Movement

A GROWING awareness of the need for improving the appearance of our Canadian cities is reflected in recent news stories and editorials on the question of underground versus overhead wiring.

Editorially, the Welland-Port Colborne, Ont., Tribune takes a stand that may be said to be typical of the attitude of a growing number of Canadian dailies.

IDEA REVIVED

"The business of burying wires had a serious setback during the depression and war years," the paper said in a recent lead editorial. "Now that the economy of the country may be said to be back to normal, it is to be hoped that this desirable improvement will be encouraged in Canada's thriving centres."

Noting that the major requirement is "a definite plan," the newspaper cites European and some South American cities as "outstanding examples" of what can be done to make a community more beautiful by keeping wires underground. "Canada," it concludes, "has now reached the stage in civic development where this question might well be given the consideration it deserves."

Editorially, the Welland-Port Colborne, Ont., Tribune takes a stand that may be said to be typical of the attitude of a growing number of Canadian dailies.

GRADUAL CONVERSION

Accepting just that advice, the Saint John, N.B., city council has been going into the whole question of underground versus overhead wiring with what appears to be the majority of councillors strongly in favor of a gradual conversion to the underground system. And Toronto, where there has long been talk of removing overhead, at last appears to have decided to begin such work, initial conversion to be made along a part of College Street, one of the city's busiest thoroughfares.

In Ottawa, it is no secret that the Greber plan for beautifying the national capital includes provisions for placing all existing overhead below the surface of the ground, thus making way for the complete elimination of ugly poles. This is long overdue.

OTTAWA TOO

If any city should take steps to improve its appearance it should be the country's capital. The central 16 square miles of Washington, D.C., are completely without overhead wires and supporting poles. Ottawa, until such time as the Greber or some similar plan is effected, must constantly suffer by comparison.

As Our Readers See It

WELL?

Why is it that the good folk concerned with the welfare of our souls are so lacking in respect for our privacy? Why are they unable to understand that those who want religion, seek it? If they don't want it—they go to a beach in their leisure hours.

Surely the churches we are perpetually being petitioned to support financially are used for something besides weddings and funerals. Why not hold a service for them occasionally? One might inquire how welcome a delegation of vacationers, complete with bathing suits, beach balls and portable phonograph, would be in a crowded church during a sermon.

But what vacationer would have such insufferably bad manners thus to intrude?

HEALTH INVOLVED

Last Sunday we were visitors to Beaver Lake and enjoyed ourselves thoroughly—at least until we went to the ladies' dressing-room to change. The "dressing-room" was disgusting. Once in the dingy main building, we had to wait on the cold, wet, cement floor to get into one of the four dirty booths (these, of all things, serve double duty as rest-rooms and dressing-rooms). Furthermore, I was unable to find a single hook or nail on which to hang my clothes (to keep them off the filthy floor). Do such conditions encourage either tourists or residents to visit our summer resorts?

May I suggest that a small charge be made at the gate to take care of the cost of improving these conditions? I think that most folk will agree with me that an improvement along these lines would be beneficial to everyone concerned.

Beaver Lake is just one spot where the rest-room and dressing-room situations need attention. At the Esquimalt Lagoon, for example, there are no facilities at all. When nature calls, what is one to do?

W. M. LACEY, R.R.1.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

BEVERLEY BAXTER, distinguished member of the British Parliament, declared during an economic debate in the House of Commons he was "not at all certain that the third British Empire will not see the return of the American continent."

"There is only one solution to the world's economic disaster which is approaching," said Baxter, a native of Toronto. "That is for the Americans and Canadians to find some way to come into the sterling economy, with free interchangeable currency, as this country, in the 19th century, went into America, after the civil war, and built up American economy."

Well, now, that's a suggestion which makes us Yankees (and I dare say our Canadian neighbors) sit up and take notice. We are terribly allergic to anything which even slightly impinges on our sovereignty. Was Baxter speaking politically, economically, or both?

From the political standpoint the United States of course isn't going to tear up her declaration of 1776. That was rather well implemented at the time—and it stands. Canada, too, has made it clear that she intends to go her sovereign way with no closer British tie than that of membership in the Commonwealth.

SWAN SONG

As a matter of fact, this column believes that empires, in the generally accepted sense of the term, are on their way out. We may have commonwealths and other liberal forms of association, but empires—no.

However, we needn't labor this point, but assume that Baxter was thinking largely in terms of non-political association which would be of mutual advantage economically and in the way of military security. That is, an extension of the association which already exists and which the much debated Atlantic Pact would further strengthen in the defensive sense.

Certainly there is much to be done in the way of improving international relations. We may even be working toward the idealist's dream of "one world" in which a real united nations will serve as a universal Parliament. The United States has given full evidence that she wants to play her part in this transformation.

ALL-OUT EFFORT

However, my observation is that it will be a mistake if foreign countries believe there is no limit to which the United States will go. We hope that we have given generally of our moral support and our material wealth. We expect to give more.

But as I read the signs the time is rapidly approaching when Uncle Sam is going to tighten up on his material assistance abroad. He has his own people to think about and he isn't going to jeopardize their welfare by tossing his purse into the international kitty.

The United States has made more than generous appropriations to assist in the rehabilitation of war-torn Europe. The Marshall Plan has put the European democracies on the road to recovery. More help has been promised.

Nevertheless full rehabilitation depends, not on the largeness of the United States, but on the efforts of the afflicted countries themselves. Nobody has asked them to pull themselves up by their boot straps, but they are expected to jump in and work out their own salvation with the aid which has been given.

Actually, Britain and most of the continental countries are making a gallant fight for recovery. Still, here and there one observes a nation which isn't quite pulling its weight, and it is well that all hands understand the United States is going to protect its own economic security and maintain its rights.

EUROPE'S PEACEFUL PLANNERS

Ottawa Citizen

A plan for an European highway network is but the latest achievement of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe. It provides for the cheap, rapid, and safe movement of traffic through most of the continent on first-class roads built to standard specifications. It is the first highway plan for Europe since Roman times and is remarkable for the fact that nations have agreed to let economic rather than military considerations determine the location of their roads.

SUNDAY PILOTS—Flying F-51 Mustang fighters, Lt. Col. Leslie C. Smith (top plane) leads a group of his "week-end" pilots in manoeuvres over San Francisco Bay. The men, members of the 61st Fighter Wing of the California Air National Guard, are civilians during the week. They are getting in shape to spend their two weeks' vacation on a tour of active duty at the Victorville Air Force Base, California.

To Hold Dedication Service For Medical-Mission Boats

A dedication service for three medical-mission boats—two Canadian and one American—will be held in the Inner Harbor in front of the Parliament Buildings Sunday evening.

The service is unique in that it is seldom that craft engaged in this work are in the same locality at one time. The three boats are the 135-foot Willis Shank, converted U.S. navy minesweeper of the Marine Medical Mission, Seattle; the Bruce McLean, speedy new craft of the Nootka Mission Hospital and the Messenger III of the Shantymen's Christian Association.

There are stories behind the names of two of the ships. The Willis Shank is named after a Seattle Youth for Christ leader who was killed in a plane crash while flying to Alaska to dedicate a new mission, and the Bruce McLean is named for the 15-year-old son of Dr. H. A. McLean who was drowned when the Messenger II was wrecked on the reefs near Tatchu Point, on the west coast of the island, on Oct. 2, last year.

The Willis Shank is on her way to the sparsely-populated islets off the coast of Alaska, where she will serve as a floating hospital.

The Bruce McLean will replace the Messenger II in the area surrounding Esperanza Inlet on the west coast. She has a sturdily-constructed mahogany hull and is powered by a 165-horsepower V-8 engine which will give her a speed of 20 knots. She will be brought here from Vancouver, where she was built by Turner Bros., by Percy Willis.

The new craft was built from funds sent in from all over the continent following the loss of the Messenger II.

Presiding over Sunday evening's service, which begins at 8.45, will be E. R. S. Dickinson of the Shantymen. Sir Ernest W. Petter, another member of the association, will speak briefly. Band of the Victoria West Salvation Army citadel will play.

No Evidence Man Set Fire; Charge In Court Dismissed

In three cases in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon, alleging Saanich residents set fires without permits, Magistrate H. C. Hall imposed fines on two accused and dismissed the third charge.

Charge against Paul Case, Cordova Bay, was dismissed. While it was shown the defendant had a permit to burn slashings on property he is converting into a subdivision during the period of June 9 to 12, there was no prosecution evidence that Case had set the fire which flared up on the same property on June 14.

He told the court there was no visual evidence of fire on the 13th or when he left the property on the morning of the 14th. While the second defence witness called by counsel James J. Proudfoot, was testifying, C. L. Harrison interrupted to point out there was no need going further and asked for dismissal of the charge.

John M. Lindsay, 2997 Tudor Avenue, Ten Mile Point, pleaded guilty to the charge of setting a fire on July 17 and was fined $10, or in default of payment, three days in jail. He paid the fine.

He said he had two small controlled fires, one a smoldering weed affair, which "caused my neighbor to panic." Defendant pointed out he had to burn refuse of this type or throw it into the sea and if he did the latter it would be the cause of complaint from the neighbors.

W. Stanley, 8557 Harriet Road, was fined $2.50 when found guilty on the same offence. He said he was only burning off a small plot of grass in front of the house.

Award Contract For Duncan Ditches

DUNCAN—Garner Bros. Ltd. have been awarded the contract to dig and clear three miles of ditches to drain Somenos Lake. Eight firms submitted tenders to the Somenos Drainage Board, who hope to reclaim 800 acres of arable land from the lake when the contractors finish.

Other construction work in the city includes preparation of several streets for black topping and the widening and clearing of York Road for the provincial highway.

Dumped Entrails Illegally; Fined $15

A fine of $15, or in default of payment three days in jail, was imposed against G. A. Creeator, Holland Avenue, by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday afternoon.

He pleaded guilty to dumping the entrails of two lambs off the side of Munn's Road on July 7, contrary to the municipal by-law on disposal of rubbish. Accused told the magistrate he cleaned up the mess the morning after doing it.

Doukhobors Talk Of Returning To Russia

NELSON (CP) — Some of British Columbia's Doukhobor sect may soon be leaving for greener fields.

The radical Sons of Freedom group—5,000 dissenters from the main racial strain—have given notice they will leave the parent group and head for either Russia or Turkey.

They harken to the call of John L. Lebedeff, chairman of the Spiritual Community of Christ, who has asked for a general migration. The Sons of Freedom, who more than once have been accused of blazing an incendiary path through the East Kootenay valleys of this province, broke from the main Doukhobor colony over the question of absorption of Canadian customs.

The Sons cling to the old religion and customs while the main group is to some extent assimilating Canadian ways.

TO THE EAST

In a statement Thursday night, Lebedeff said:

"After 50 years in Canada, the Doukhobors are destined to migrate east to either Soviet Russia or Turkey. . . . All Doukhobors desiring to fulfill the prophecy of migrating east, should see the chairman."

The Sons of Freedom have not been totally ideal citizens. Their adherence to the old religion made them defy governmental edicts, including compulsory military service.

Their enmity toward their orthodox brethren is believed to have led to the death in 1928 of Peter Verigin the Second in a railroad dynamiting. He was the orthodox spiritual leader.

Peter Verigin the First brought the group from Russia in 1899. Since then the Sons of Freedom has been blamed for more than $1,000,000 damage in fire raids in 1947 alone.

Commissioner John Shirras of the B.C. Provincial Police today expressed skepticism at the announced plans of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors to migrate from Canada to Turkey or Soviet Russia.

While he said he would be pleased to see them go, for fanatic Doukhobors here probably caused the police more trouble than any other group, he would believe in their intentions only when they started to withdraw from B.C.

The colony at Hilliers on Vancouver Island is believed to be of the orthodox Doukhobor faith and not of the fanatic group.

Former Victoria 'Mystic' Says He Built $3 To $120,000

LONDON (UP)—Dr. A. George Hall, who spends his time surveying the occult and admitted to a sizable Canadian police record, said in London Thursday that in 10 months he had turned a bank balance of about $3.00 into assets of close to $120,000.

It was strictly legal, he said. Hall arrived in London in May last year to set up in business as European secretary-general of what he called "The International Occult-Psychic Research Guild."

Its object, he said, was to teach the modern application, in all branches of personal relationships, science and primal healing, of "the basic principles disclosed to the Occidental world in the Tibetan 'Urga Manuscript' and in other documents recording the knowledge and experience of the Far East."

But he used strictly western tactics in drumming up the small fortune which was used in part to buy the "Pearson Foundation College," an imposing 18th century house in fashionable Kensington.

Hall told a reporter that last September "we had only 15 shillings (about $3) in the bank. Next day I was shown this house and knew I had found what I had been seeking so long. The price was $20,000 ($80,000). We raised the money by voluntary subscriptions ranging from sixpence a week upwards."

An additional $40,000 was spent on furniture which he said he used during daily public and private lectures.

The doctor, who boasts the full name of Alfred Ernest Edward George Hall, served seven terms of imprisonment in the past 25 years, police said, one of them a six-month stint at hard labor imposed by a Vancouver court for obtaining money by false pretences.

His "court of governors" have seen his police record but passed it off, he said—just as they did records that he had been deported from the United States to Canada three times.

The Dr. Hall mentioned in the dispatch is a former Victorian. While attending high school here he was active in theatrical and other activities but left the city soon after graduation and formed similar organizations in Canada and the United States.

Some years ago he returned to the city to lecture and after staying a few days went to Vancouver where he was leader of an occult group for a short time after which he returned to the United States.

Open House Sunday At Sunshine Camp

"Open House" will be held Sunday at Sunshine Camp, Sooke, and many families are planning to make it an all-day picnic.

Mayor Percy E. George will officiate and the keys of the camp will be turned over to sponsoring organizations.

The creation of Sunshine Camp is an accomplishment of the Greater Victoria Community Chest, with administration of the camp handled by personnel of the Family Welfare and Children's Aid Society. Children of the camp have arranged a program designed to entertain visitors. Tea and cookies will be served free of charge.

Flag-Waving War

Confusion prevails as the first group of Japanese repatriates arrives in Tokyo from Soviet-controlled areas. Communist repatriates wave Red flags. Others wave Japan's "Rising Sun" flag. Still others wave flags bearing inscriptions to help them locate their families and friends. Many of the Communist displaced persons demanded time to register at Tokyo's Communist Party headquarters before departing for their villages in the north.

Saturday Parade For 'Merry Widow'

Ambassador Baron Popoff will precede "The Merry Widow" to town. Arriving by plane tomorrow, he will be escorted through the city in a colorful parade by the beautiful chorus of singers and dancers who will be seen at the premiere presentation of "The Merry Widow" at the Memorial Arena on Monday night.

The parade will start at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon from the C.P.R. pier and will proceed along Belleville to Government, to Humboldt to Douglas Street past the City Hall, along Corcoran Street to Blanshard where it will terminate at the Memorial Arena.

With a police escort the parade will be led by the Girls' Pipe Band, followed by ladies in early automobiles of the 1900 period. Two floats will carry the chorus and dancers participating in the performance and a carriage drawn by a team of white horses with the Marovian Ambassador Baron Popoff, played by the veteran actor-producer, E. V. Young.

Weather

Official forecast issued from the Dominion Public Weather Office at Vancouver at 9 a.m., P.S.T. July 22:

Synopsis—A shallow depression centred 250 miles off the Queen Charlotte appears to be causing rain over the northern coastal regions. Cloudiness is general in most regions of the province except the southern interior where clear skies give promise of pleasant weather during the next 24 to 48 hours.

There is little indication of any marked improvement over the rest of the province.

Regional forecasts, valid until midnight July 23:

Vancouver city—Variable cloudiness today. Cloudy Saturday. Occasional light rain Saturday morning. Wind light. Little change in temperature.

Low tonight and high Saturday at Vancouver airport 52-68.

Victoria city—Cloudy today and Saturday. Winds light. Little change in temperature. Low tonight and high Saturday at Victoria 52-63.

Lower Fraser Valley—Cloudy today and Saturday. Widely scattered showers Saturday. Little change in temperature.

Winds light. Low tonight and high Saturday at Abbotsford airport 47-70.

Urge Canadians To Employ D.P. Couples As Domestic

Two Killed, 5 Hurt In Alberta Crash

CROSSFIELD, Alta. (CP)—Two persons were killed and five injured early today in a head-on collision between a truck and an automobile at this town 30 miles north of Calgary.

Those killed were a Mrs. Dalton and Josephus J. Van Ryzwyk, 39, both of Calgary. In a Calgary hospital are Capt. J. V. Chatwin of Edmonton, Lieut. R. E. Hyde of Edmonton and L. Cpl. H. W. Miller of Calgary, all stationed at Calgary's Currie Barracks, James Boon of Calgary and J. H. Hopper of Crossfield.

The accident occurred when the occupants of the trucks were attempting to hook up a trailer to the vehicle. The car, travelling south on the highway, struck the parked truck head-on.

First Cabinet Meeting For New Labor Minister

Labor Minister John H. Cates, who was sworn in Thursday, today attended his first meeting of the provincial cabinet.

Agriculture Minister Bowman, sworn in at the same time, was not present.

It is expected to be about three weeks before the two new ministers take over their portfolios. Capt. Cates said it will require that time for him to wind up his business in Vancouver and make arrangements for the management of the tugboat company which he has directed for some years.

On the other hand, Mr. Bowman plans to make tours of the central and southeastern parts of the province before returning to Victoria to take up his new OTTAWA (CP)—The labor department is trying to exploit a relatively untouched field of immigrants for Canada.

Arthur MacNamara, Deputy Minister of Labor, said today in an interview an attempt is being made to persuade Canadians wanting domestics that they can solve their problem by accepting small families of displaced persons.

"We're trying to put the thought in the heads of people who want domestics badly that if they'll take a couple they'll get them right away," Mr. MacNamara said.

He said there are a number of reasons for the shortage of single girls among displaced persons who are interested in emigrating to Canada.

Many girls in D.P. camps were afraid to leave parents, fearing they would be absorbed behind the "Iron Curtain" and that they would never see them again.

He said the government is not relaxing its care in choosing families to come to Canada. It was just that in finding places for families the scope of D.P.'s to choose from would be widened.

In the circular Mr. MacNamara said most people who want domestics are prominent in the community and in many cases the man of the house runs a business where the head of a D.P. family might be employed.

What is needed is a guarantee that work will be provided for any persons in an immigrant family who won't be doing domestic work.

Mr. MacNamara particularly mentioned farmers who can use domestic help along with help on the farm.

duties. Former Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam will accompany him part of the time.

Young Boy Drowns In Cowichan Lake On Holiday Visit

DUNCAN—Lawrence Holm, 8, drowned Thursday afternoon, while fishing from a wharf at Nitinat Camp, Lake Cowichan, police headquarters reported.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigurd V. Holm, 1246 East 59th, Vancouver, Lawrence was a student at Walter Moberley School in Vancouver and was visiting his uncle, John Bushy, Nitinat Beach, for two weeks.

According to reports, Lawrence leaped from the wharf to a log and fell short. He swam a few strokes but his struggles carried him farther from shore. His companion, Ronny Donoghue, 10, of Nitinat, ran for help and Dr. A. Phelps and an inhalator crew from the B.C. Forest Products Camp, two miles away, were summoned.

Diving three times into the lake, Dr. Phelps saw the boy's body about 30 feet from shore but was unable to reach him.

Fifteen minutes after the boy fell into the lake, his body was recovered by means of a pike pole. Efforts to revive him proved futile.

An inquiry into the death will be held by Coroner J. H. Boyd at Duncan. The drowning was investigated by Constable G. A. Phillips of the Lake Cowichan provincial police detachment.

Canadian Election Experts To Aid Colombia Officials

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has been asked to advise Colombia on its tangled electoral set-up in time for the South American country's election next May, and will send two experts.

Nelson Castonguay, 35, executive assistant to his father Jules, chief electoral officer, will leave by plane next Wednesday. He will spend a month in Colombia, explaining the Canadian voting procedure to Colombia.

At the same time, retired Assistant Commissioner Herbert Darling of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will leave his Edmonton home for Colombia. He will advise on the national election system, including finger-printing.

The request for the services of Castonguay was first made in April. Castonguay handled most of the details of the June 27 election because his father is ailing.

Dr. Eduardo Zuleta Angel, Foreign Minister of Colombia, made a special trip to Ottawa, which ended Thursday, to persuade the Canadian government to have Castonguay make the trip.

The South American country keeps a permanent list of its electors, whereas under the Canadian system enumerators are used just before each election.

For Quick, Easy Sure Results Take Your Choice of CERTO or CERTO Crystals

Jam and jelly-making need not be a chore. The sensible, modern way to do it is with the help of CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals. Both are fruit pectin—the natural substance in fruit that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell"—extracted and concentrated for efficient jam and jelly making. The name "Certo" is a trade-mark.

Please yourself which you choose... some prefer the liquid—some the crystals. Each ends guesswork and tedious long-boiling. Each gives sure results if you follow the instructions exactly.

Look for CERTO Crystals in the package

Why CERTO Fruit Pectin or CERTO Crystals Make Better Jams and Jellies... Easier... Quicker

1. VERY SHORT BOIL. When you use CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals you need only a ONE-MINUTE full, rolling boil for both jams and jellies. Such a saving of time and work!
2. MAKE JAM OR JELLY. Very little juice has time to boil away as it does in old-fashioned, long-boiling. You get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.
3. FRESH-FRUIT TASTE... COLOUR. The lovely taste and colour of the fresh fruit stay in your jams and jellies because the boil is too short to spoil the one or dull the other.
4. NO GUESSWORK. With either CERTO or "CERTO" Crystals you get tested recipes—a different one for each fruit. Follow them exactly and you'll have no failures.

'Foreign Legion' Guards Eastern Gibraltar

By DAVID A. STEIN.

A unique "Foreign Legion" has been formed to defend Hong Kong against possible attack by Chinese Communists.

The Hong Kong defence force is open to any resident of Britain's "Eastern Gibraltar," no matter what his nationality. Men and women alike may serve, and the testamentary oath is so worded that aliens will not suffer loss of their national status.

Never before, government officials say, has a force composed of such a variety of units been brought together under one command. Army, navy, air force and an auxiliary force for internal security are combined in one organization.

This small force—its numbers range from 4,500 to 6,000—has been supplemented by a strengthened garrison of British troops. British Defence Minister A. V. Alexander visited Hong Kong recently, in a move to boost morale and to assure the city of Great Britain's firm resolve to keep possession of her 100-year-old colony.

LEADING WAREHOUSE

Alexander confirmed reports that Great Britain, the United States and Dominion representatives have met to discuss Hong Kong's future. The colony is one of the world's greatest international ports. It is the Far East's leading warehouse, and vast quantities of products from all parts of the world are brought to its piers for storage, sale and trans-shipment to Asiatic markets.

Crowded into the 390 square miles of the colony, is a population estimated at 1,800,000. Victoria, capital city of the 32 square mile island of Hong Kong, houses more than 750,000 people. The peninsula of Kowloon, on the mainland across a narrow channel harbor, is second in size, with a population of more than half a million. The balance live in the "New Territories" adjacent to the peninsula.

Post-war problems of Hong Kong, which was occupied by the Japanese in 1941, have been increased by China's civil war. Just under two million people entered and just over two million left Hong Kong last year. They ranged from destitute refugees to rich Chinese fleeing from the Communists. Feeding and housing them has been a major problem.

Piracy and smuggling have increased in recent years. Pirates have not hesitated to seize British steamers, looting the cargoes and arsenals and holding passengers and crews as hostages. The first air piracy in history occurred in Hong Kong last year.

The colony has offered asylum to Chinese political refugees of all shades of opinion. When Shanghai faced a critical food shortage, Hong Kong shipped 10,000 tons of rice in response to an urgent appeal. Last year the "Kowloon City Incident" resulted from British attempts to raze 2,000 squatters' shacks housing 6,000 destitute Chinese refugees. The move, undertaken as a health and safety measure, resulted in riots.

Trade in Hong Kong continues to boom, since it has been impossible to satisfy the Far East's demand for consumer goods. Chinese capital, attracted by more stable business conditions in the colony, has been invested in industrial buildings and equipment.

Hong Kong had almost a century of uninterrupted peaceful development following cession of the Island to the British by the Treaty of Nanking, in 1842. The colony surrendered to the Japanese on Christmas Day, 1941, and lost more than half its population before liberation in 1945. As a free port, it has become one of the world's greatest harbors.

Execution Set For July 6 Carried Out At Montreal Today

MONTREAL (CP)—Maurice Lebel, 28-year-old truck driver from St. Guy, Que., was hanged at the Bordeaux Jail early today for the beer-bottle murder of two Trois Pistoles, Que., men July 1, 1948.

An air of secrecy surrounded the hanging and jail officials steadfastly refused to give out information.

News of the hanging came only after residents of the area around the jail telephoned a newspaper in Montreal and asked why the prison bell had tolled six times.

The date of execution had been previously set for July 6 and no explanation was offered as to why the hanging had been put back an additional 16 days.

Lebel was convicted last February of the brutal slaying of bank manager Louis Philippe Breton and taxi-driver Wilfrid Dumais.

The bodies of the two men were found near Riviere du Loup on Dominion Day last year.

Witnesses at Lebel's trial testified that three promissory notes in Lebel's name had been due July 2. There was also evidence that Breton, on the day he was killed, had taken the notes, totalling $4,900, from the Banque Canadienne Nationale at Trois Pistoles, where he was manager.

The notes were not found on the body.

A beer bottle, which had evidently been used to kill the two men, was found near the scene of the murder.

British Women Look In Vain For Clothes Really Wanted

LONDON (CP)—Now that clothes rationing is over, British women are looking around the shops more closely—and finding fault.

Dress racks are jammed but housewives question whether manufacturers are producing the sort of clothes women really want.

"To get a dress is easy, but to get one in the size, color and material you have set your heart on is next to impossible," one shopper said.

Here are a few of the items many women want to buy but have trouble finding:

Cotton frocks for five-year-olds at less than £1 ($4) and size 24 cotton frocks with matching panties.

Light, cool, efficient foundation garments at £1 or less.

Light-weight black skirts at less than £3.

Little boys white shirts. Furnishing fabrics in soft grey-green at less than £4 a yard.

Light-colored cleanable rain-coats.

Another hard-to-swallow pill is hat prices. One example is the "eggshell" cap designed last February by Christian Dior. It can be bought today in New York for $5 but will not be sold in Britain until August and then will cost £6, 17s.

Many women ask: "What is the manufacturers' answer to all this?"

"When it's a question of high prices they push 'quality' on us. Then they talk of 'imported' materials, and finally say 'Well, we sell everything we make'."

"It's this dispirited aftermath of rationing, this 'take the best you can get' attitude that is responsible for half the trouble," said a buyer for a big London store.

"When women once more stand up for what they really want and refuse to take 'the next best thing' the manufacturers will start producing according to the demand."

Pin Through Skin Illusion Used In Autumn Stylings

NEW YORK (CP)—Designer Pauline Trigere has solved the problem of where to pin your brooch when your dress is mostly neckline.

In her fall fashion showing, Trigere's models wear jewelry pinned to their bras, showing discreetly through a neckline that plunges all the way to the belt. The glittering pin also serves to cover the part of the bra that might otherwise show, as well as to create the dramatic illusion that the brooch is pinned to the skin.

It's just another of the tricks of fashion that keep the public wondering what the resourceful designers will pull out of their sleeves next.

Trigere's collection climaxed the fourth of five hectic days of fall fashion previews viewed by fashion editors of newspapers throughout the country. And the dynamic Frenchwoman, who opened her New York showroom during the war, provided plenty of drama for her audience.

A curtain-raiser was her steamer costume, planned for trans-Atlantic commuters and consisting of a long cape in rough tweed woven in wide stripes ranging from black to light grey, with a matching skirt.

Buttoned-back revers are used in various ways on coats and suits, and capes are all over the place. Trigere likes pastel hats, shawls and gloves in pink, pale blue or mauve with slim black dresses, often edged with the small triangular shawls in jet or braid fringe.

A featured silhouette is the "side-swinging skirt," with a circular cut draped up at one side, shown both as a part of the dress and as a removable overskirt on a wool sheath dress.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Miss Dix: I was spanking my nine-year-old daughter the other day when an "unmanly" neighbor came into the room unannounced. She said that she was afraid that the other mothers in the neighborhood would not want their children to play with a girl who had to be punished so severely. I told her the child had done nothing very naughty, but that I believe in Solomon's motto, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." What do you think of corporal punishment?

ANXIOUS AND WORRIED MOTHER.

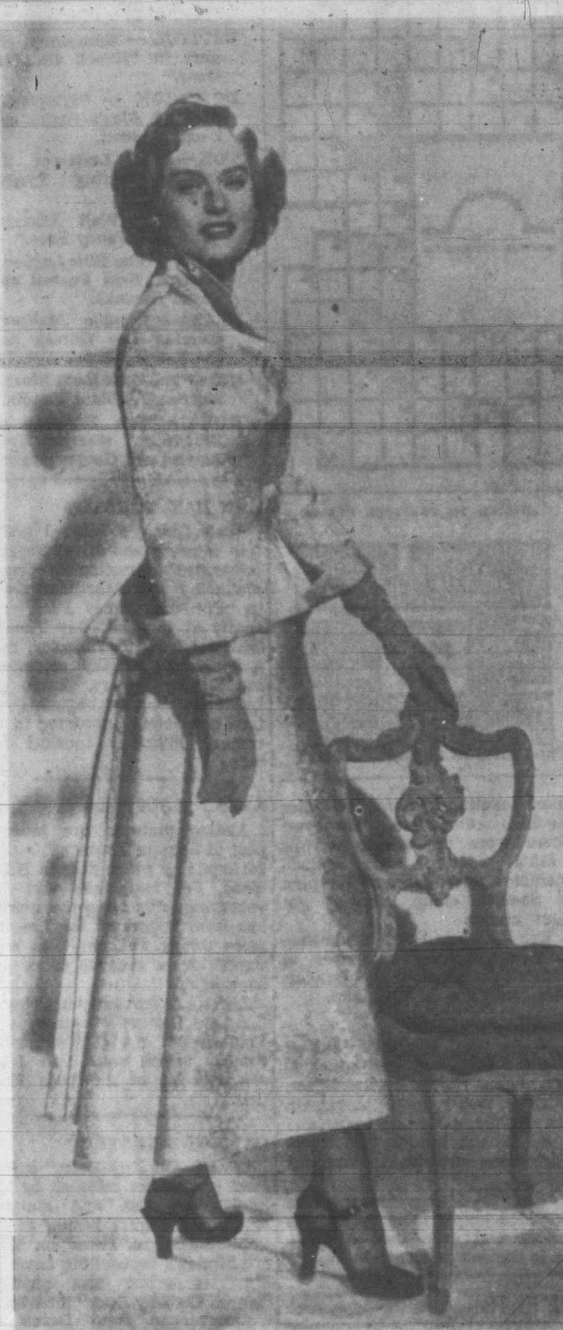

Answer: I have too often seen a peevish, fretful child who was making life a torment for everybody about it turned into a sweet and smiling little angel by a judicious use of the hairbrush, not to subscribe to the spanking theory when it is put in operation at the psychological moment by the humane mother.

Before a child is old enough to reason, it has to be controlled by force, but there should be some way of appealing to a girl of nine by other means than a beating. You should rule your children through love and respect.

There is only a short time in which they will be afraid of you, and if you hold upon them is fear, you can do nothing with them when that is gone.

Lady Cub Masters Prominent At Ottawa's Scout Jamboree

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, SOUTH MARCH, Ont. (CP)—There's no "men only" sign on scouting.

Scouts of Canadian women are in the scout movement as lady cub masters and some 25 of them are attending the first Canadian boy scout jamboree, a huge tent city on Connaught Rifle Ranges, 14 miles west of Ottawa, where nearly 3,000 scouts from Canada, the United States and Cuba are camping this week.

A lady cub master—or any cub master, for that matter—is known as "Akela" to members of a wolf pack—boys between eight and 12. The "Akela" teach the boys the principles of the wolf cubs, lead them on hikes and some times lady cub masters even lead them on camping trips. (The name is derived from Rudyard Kipling's "Jungle Book")

Hollywood Actress Advises Hopfuls To Dye Their Hair

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You've got to dye to be an actress, Shelley Winters advises young blonde hopefuls.

"A blonde who wants to be a serious actress has an uphill struggle in Hollywood," said the new film find.

Shelley had a series of frothy roles on Broadway until director George Cukor picked her to be slain by Ronald Colman in "A Double Life." Colman got an Oscar for slipping her a mickey.

The gal has been going great guns at Universal-International, but she claims the average blonde has a rough go.

"Every woman is flattered by male attention and the average blonde female actress in Hollywood gets more than an adequate share. But how vain can you be? After a while you want to find someone who takes your ambitions and your ideas about an acting career seriously."

SEXY LOOK

The typical male attitude here is "This is just a cute blonde cookie who knows only about from the name of a she-wolf, one of the many animal characters in the book. At cub meetings, the cubs form a circle, put their fingers up to their ears and shout "Akela, we'll do our best" when their cub master arrives.) But it's not an easy job. They must be fully qualified for their work—and that includes a lot more than being able to tie knots or light a fire without matches—and get a certain percentage on examinations covering various phases of cub work.

It's strictly voluntary. Their only reward is the satisfaction they get from their jobs. Some of the lady cub masters at the jamboree—the biggest project ever undertaken by Canadian boy scouts—have traveled thousands of miles, to work in the camp canteen, the equipment store or the hospital.

Looking sexy? When you try to convince them that you want more than that out of acting you get blank stares.

Her solution: Dye your hair and save yourself a pack of trouble.

After seeing Shelley do a sexy song number in a Far East bar room for "East of Java," I think I'd rather see her in that sort of thing than in Shakespeare. (She studies the Bard in Charles Laughton's class.)

But then, maybe I'm that typical Hollywood male she talks about.

OTHER NOTES

Howard Hughes is reportedly complaining about the expense of the Rossini-Bergman picture, for which he's footing the bill. What he's concerned for? He's only got the most highly publicized picture of all time.

Needs Big Puff

HULL, Eng. (CP)—Mrs. Mary Hannah Walker, who recently celebrated her 103rd birthday, had an iced cake with a candle for every year of her life.

Search Commenced For Canada's Most Attractive Woman

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian National Exhibition is hunting for Canada's loveliest woman.

She must be a person who, as a wife and mother, provides for her family a rich and interesting life yet is herself a vital and loving person.

Artists say she should have something of the stability and graciousness of women of the Maritimes, the gay vivaciousness and savoir-faire of chic Quebec, the alertness and good clothes-sense of women of Ontario, the free spirit of the westerners and the warm-heartedness of the female from British Columbia.

Alice Bradshaw, Canadian fashion artist, is drawing a composite picture of "the ideal woman." The picture will include as many of the pre-requisite qualities as possible. When complete, it will be published in newspapers across Canada and with it will go requests for names of women who come closest to resembling it.

The judges' selection will then be brought to Toronto as guest of the C.N.E., which opens Aug. 26.

Individual Likes Basic Principle For Child's Diet

NEW YORK (CP)—Don't force your child to eat, says Dr. Elizabeth Hurlock, who is also a mother.

"A child quite often knows better what it should eat than its mother," says Dr. Hurlock. "My daughter persistently refused to eat liver and soon we found out that she was allergic to it."

Instead of standing over your child, urging him to finish what's on his plate, remove the uneaten food without comment or show of concern. Unless he is allergic to it, your child soon should accept the food without fuss or bother, says Dr. Hurlock.

"Scientific studies of taste have shown no inborn food dislikes except for food that is harmful to the human body," Dr. Hurlock adds. Some of the reasons children develop food dislikes are because one of the parents has expressed a dislike for it in the child's presence, or because the food is overcooked or overseasoned.

The best way to tempt a child's

Daring 'Fan' Decolletage Shown In Fashion Preview

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle of the neckline goes on apace in fall fashions currently being previewed for the press.

Designers vie for the most daring decolletage, and one of the newest and most startling is known variously as the "fan neckline," crumb catcher, balcony and shelf. It consists of a bodice flaring upward, and outward from the waist, with no apparent means of support. It is calculated to arouse the opposite sex, who are doomed to the disappointment of finding that a bra arrangement behind the "fan" make it all modest, after all.

Jo Copland, known for her sophisticated after-five costumes, employs the crumb-catcher silhouette to distinct advantage on a stripe green surah cocktail dress guaranteed to break the ice at any gathering.

This designer also shows a sleek collection of slim city suits, with dressmaker touches such as velvet trim, brade binding, rows of small pearl buttons and such. Skirts are slim and jackets generally longer. Miss Copland likes contrasting apron panels on dark afternoon gowns, goes in for elaborate side drapes on her more formal designs.

Ben Reig concentrates on sleeve interest for fall, introducing "mercury wing" silhouette, which is a flaring lapel arrangement stitched into the sleeve seam. He shows also the mousquetaire sleeve, which is buttoned from wrist to elbow and suggests the long mousquetaire glove.

The "gyro skirt" is another Reig innovation of the season, with panels applied at side front and side back to suggest that it would be dandy fun to whirl. His "tailpin-skirt"—is slim—and straight in front, develops a flirtatious flare at centre back.

Flower arrangements by Mrs. N. Bedard and Mrs. H. W. McKenzie were effectively used to decorate stalls and tea tables. Concoctions were Mrs. T. L. Clarke, home cooking; Mrs. Bert Harrison, candy; Miss Gaye Jacobson, fish pond; Miss Doreen Telf, pop and ice cream; Wayne Barwick, Gary Payton and Ernie Skinner, contests.

Afternoon tea was in charge of Mrs. C. Barwick and Mrs. M. Jacobson, assisted by Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Bedard and Mrs. R. Carlow. Presiding at the lead tea table were Miss Savory and Mrs. A. Turner.

Today's Recipe

RAISIN DROP FOR TEA TIME

Ingredients: One and one-half cups brown sugar, one cup lard or butter, three eggs, one teaspoon cinnamon, three cups flour, pinch of salt, one cup cooked raisins, one cup nuts, one teaspoon soda, one-third cup hot water, one teaspoon vanilla.

Cream sugar and butter, add beaten eggs, dissolve soda in hot water, add flour, cinnamon, vanilla, then add floured raisins and nuts. Drop from spoon on greased tins. Bake in hot oven.

Island Highway Home Scene Of Garden Fete

Members of Langford Parent-Teacher Association held their annual garden party last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bayles, Island Highway.

The affair, which drew a splendid crowd, was opened by Mrs. C. W. Pottinger, president of the Greater Victoria P.T. Council. She was introduced by Miss E. M. A. Savory and presented with a corsage bouquet by little Bunny Jacobson.

Flower arrangements by Mrs. N. Bedard and Mrs. H. W. McKenzie were effectively used to decorate stalls and tea tables. Concoctions were Mrs. T. L. Clarke, home cooking; Mrs. Bert Harrison, candy; Miss Gaye Jacobson, fish pond; Miss Doreen Telf, pop and ice cream; Wayne Barwick, Gary Payton and Ernie Skinner, contests.

Priority Sought By Camp Veterans

Should Saanich ratepayers, voting in a referendum at the December elections, approve the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation plan to build 153 homes on the old Lansdowne airport site, veterans living at Gordon Head Camp want priority as tenants.

The "better housing" committee of the camp has applied for first opportunity to rent the homes should the scheme be endorsed. Saanich Council has decided to let decision on the matter rest with the ratepayers. Majority of the council has opposed the scheme on grounds the application of a five-year fixed taxation is unfair to other Saanich ratepayers. However, there were indications at this week's meeting more council members would support the plan if Saanich camp veterans got first choice.

The Gordon Head committee may write every ratepayer in Saanich pointing out the unfavorable conditions in the camp.

OAK BAY THEATRE
Walt Disney's beloved animation veterans and Edgar Bergen's celebrated personages, Charlie McCarthy and Mortimer Snerd, in "Fun and Fancy Free," currently at the Oak Bay Theatre, with color by Technicolor, meet a couple of worthy contenders for comedy honors. Bongo and Lulubelle are new beguiling cartoon characters appearing in the current hilarious musical feature.

ATLAS THEATRE
Motion pictures are more a part of Loretta Young's life than perhaps any other star in Hollywood. For since she was five years old, the winsome actress has been a part of the Los Angeles colony and her film roles stretch from here to there and back again.

Loretta is currently starring in the title role of "Mother Is a Freshman," a new Technicolor comedy which stars Van Johnson with her at the Atlas Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE
"Knock On Any Door," a Santa production released by Columbia Pictures and starring Humphrey Bogart, is now at the Capitol Theatre. Based on Willard Motley's best-selling novel of big city crime and passion, "Knock On Any Door" introduces ex-paratrooper John Derek as "Pretty Boy" Romano and also features George Macready, Allene Roberts and Susan Perry.

Erv Palica Latest Brooklyn 'Fireman'

Erv Palica is hailed as "The New Casey" in Brooklyn where the hard-pressed Dodgers today open a vital four-game series with St. Louis Cardinals.

Day after day Palica is waved from the bullpen to save the skin of a regular Brooklyn starter just as Hugh Casey used to do. Erv worked in seven of the last 11 Dodger games, winning four and losing one.

Ironically enough, he copped his seventh victory of the season yesterday because Casey, the old Brooklyn fireman, failed to stop a Dodger uprising. Luis Olmo, who may be the prize of the returning Mexican jumpers, nipped Casey for a game-winning pinch-hit single that supplied Brooklyn's 7 to 6 edge over Pittsburgh.

Harry Brecheen lifted the Cards over Boston, 3 to 1, with a five-hitter while the Birds handed Johnny Antonelli, the Braves $10,000 bonus dandy, his fifth loss. Antonelli has been beaten by the Cards four times in his brief career.

THOMSON HAD DAY

Bobby Thomson led the New York Giants to their fourth straight victory with a pair of homers and a double. The Scot from Staten Island drove in six runs off Herm Wehmeier, Ed Ewart and Ewell Blackwell in the Giants' 9 to 5 triumph.

Walker Cooper, making his first appearance in the Polo Grounds since he was sold to Cincinnati, homered with the bases loaded for the Reds.

Hank Borowy, apparently making a career of beating Chicago since the Cubs traded him to the Phils, turned back his old mates for the fifth time, 8 to 4. Borowy was hit hard but weathered the storm for his ninth victory.

Dick Sisler and Buddy Blattner blasted loser Walt Dubiel, Bob Chipman and Warren Hacker. Sisler hit his second homer of the year, a double and a single and Blattner hit a homer with two on.

New York Yankees took the rubber game of the Cleveland series, 5 to 3, stretching their American League lead to 5½ games on Vic Raschi's 15th victory.

Once again Joe DiMaggio was the big man, driving in two runs with a single that sparked a three-run rally against loser Early Wynn in the third.

Farmers Gain Minor Baseball Finals

With Harold Gregg dishing up a four-hitter, Farmers defeated Nobles' Warriors 4 to 2 to eliminate the latter from the Junior section of the Minor Baseball Association playoffs last night. Dale Carter was the losing pitcher.

Farmers will now stack up against the winner of the Pacific Meat-Tilloumes series in a best-of-three affair.

Wilson's Home Run Gives Sacramento 12-Inning Victory

Those amazing Sacramento Solons keep whittling away at Hollywood's lead in the Coast League.

Pinch hitter Bill Wilson homered with one aboard Thursday night to give the Solons a 12th inning 5 to 4 win over the San Diego Padres.

At the same time, Los Angeles rose again from the cellar to smite the Stars 9 to 7. The game went 11 innings.

Hollywood now holds but a 5½ game lead over Sacramento.

Portland Beavers took two from Seattle Rainiers, 2 to 0 and 4 to 3. Deep in the cellar not too long ago, the Beavers now are only ½ game behind San Diego and Oakland, tied for third.

Oakland rallied to hand San Francisco a 5 to 2 defeat.

Second Highest Double Returned At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two outsiders, Lynn Rey at 6 to 1, and Lamohr, a 20 to 1 shot, combined Thursday at Exhibition Park to pay the second largest daily double of the current 56-day racing season.

Lynn Rey paid $13.45 while Lamohr returned $42.50. Eight punters collected $420.85 five more than won the season's biggest return on July 12 at $809.45.

The eight-race card was marred in the sixth, when Gold Bay, a seven-year-old gelding, dropped dead. Jockey Henry Matthews escaped uninjured. Winner of one race in three starts, Gold Bay was trailing the field at the time.

In the $1,200 featured seventh, Pondo Py won his second straight victory by an easy three lengths to pay a $6.75 win price.

Matthews and Henry Moreno split jockey laurels for the day, as both scored twice.

The quinnella, Silent Sirls and Judy J. paid $31.95.

Frank Sedgman squared the round in the other singles match Thursday with an impressive straight set win over Henri Rochon of Montreal, Canada's No. 2 man.

Sedgman also returns to action today, paired with John Bromwich, the ambidextrous captain of the Aussie squad.

Rugged Walter Stohberg of Vancouver will pair with Macken, Canada's No. 1 player, in the tie who upset Billy Sidwell in the opening singles match. The Aussie's No. 2 player bowed to the 26-year-old Macken only after a five-set thriller of 56 games that lasted three hours.

Macken's victory surprised the invaders who had predicted they would win the tie easily without the loss of a match. Australia entered this year's tie with a record of four consecutive white-washings over Canada since 1914.

The 29-year-old Sidwell, third-ranking player back home, captured the first set 6-3. It appeared as though Australia's supremacy over Canada would be maintained.

BRILLIANT RALLY

But Macken, gathering confidence as the match progressed, rallied in superlative fashion to win the second set 7-5. This

Foul Bay Squad Bolsters Lacrosse Lead

That old saying "while the cat is away the mice will play" could certainly be tagged on the Tillamook Lacrosse Club, because it never fails to happen that when Coach Arnold Ferguson of the T.A.C. is over on the mainland playing with the Adanacs and his team is scheduled here, the T.A.C. can never come up with a victory.

They ran true to form again last night dropping a 12 to 8 decision to the league-leading Foul Bay Club.

With the exception of the first period, the game was slow and loosely played. Both teams checked each other into the ground, and seldom were the goalies called on to make saves of shots from the doorstep.

The Tillamooks were in the game up until the last five minutes but had trouble organizing a streak of goal-getting. On the other hand the Bays would blow hot and cold, and at times the fans shouted for more action.

The losers were riding on a 4 to 3 lead at the end of the first period, and from the trend of the play looked like winners.

Red Mason of the clubmen put his team two goals up at the three-minute mark of the second period. Tom Halbert scored two in a row for Foul Bay to put the teams on even terms at 5 all.

and Harry Irwin of Bays made it 6 to 5. John Bamford balanced the score on a pretty conversion of a pass from Norm Coates.

to end scoring for the first half.

SECOND HALF

Tillamooks took the lead again after Bamford's second goal on a pass from Jack Reid.

Foul Bay settled down and moved ahead 8 to 7 at the end of the third period on tallies by Jackson Walker and Jimmy McKeachie. Donny Thomas of Foul Bay marked up a goal, from a shot that went through a maze of players the Bays a two-goal lead at 9 to 7. Vic Sage's counter made it 10 to 7, and the Tillamooks were slowed down to a walk, although Art Green picked up a goal to close the gap to 10 to 8.

Foul Bay had enough drive left in the dying minutes to rack up two more counters.

"Blue Bombers continued to show their mastery over the other teams in the Pee-wee division as they scored their fifth win, against only one loss and two ties, the victims this time being the Yellow Jackets. The score: Blue Bombers 6, Yellow Jackets 2.

Large Home Demand Eases, $7,000 Class Being Sought

Construction of more expensive homes in Greater Victoria is practically at a standstill, according to real estate agents and contractors. Construction of houses ranging in price between $12,000 and $20,000 has fallen off except in scattered localities in Oak Bay, Saanich and Victoria.

It was pointed out that the demand for homes in the $12,000 bracket began to drop rapidly at the beginning of the year.

While the demand for larger homes had eased, houses ranging between $7,000 and $8,000 are being built in large numbers in the three municipalities. By far the greater number of homes under construction are in the $7,000 bracket.

Contractors were unable to say how long the demand for houses in the $7,000 and $8,000 bracket would last. Orders were still coming through and the speculative market was still good.

Real estate agents said a person wishing to build a home needed a minimum of $2,000. The average person, however, had only between $500 and $1,000 for down payments.

Rotary Club Shown Facts On Spectrum

Some interesting facts about various types of lighting and efficiency of lamps were revealed to members of the Rotary Club by Walter Lind and Percy Fletcher, two managers of a Canadian electric company, at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel Thursday.

In an address entitled "Spectrum Magic," Mr. Lind explained how since early days man's source of light has always given off more heat than light. Even today the ordinary tungsten filament lamp was only 10 per cent efficient, he said.

"Mercury lamps are the latest in efficiency, but they are only 25 per cent efficient as far as light is concerned," he stated. "We are still a long way from the firefly and glowworm, both of which give out what is known as a 'cold light' and are almost 100 per cent efficient."

The speaker displayed a chart depicting the electro-magnetic spectrum which, he explained, was a map of the known regions of the spectrum.

Among some of the lamps displayed were the reflector or demonstrator lamp which puts a mirror inside the lamp globe for reflecting purposes, the spotlight lamp, types of fog lamps, fluorescent lamps, invisible lamp rays and a flash tube or strobe lamp.

Pleads Not Guilty To Liquor Charge

A plea of not guilty was registered by James J. Proudfoot for his client, Harold L. Schisler, 1702 Belmont Avenue, taxi driver, in city police court today to a charge of unlawfully selling liquor on July 19. He was remanded to Tuesday for trial.

Charge followed a police raid on Tuesday night.

Board Takes Action In Disputes Involving 1,450 B.C. Workmen

The Labor Relations Board today announced the appointment of W. T. McLaughlin, Victoria, as conciliation officer in a dispute between Hutton Brothers, Cumberland, and the International Woodworkers of America, Local 1-363, Courtenay.

The parties have been unable to agree on rates for cutting, splitting and piling.

At the same time the board announced appointment of officers and boards to deal with four other disputes involving 1,450 workmen, mainly on the mainland.

They are: William Fraser, conciliation officer, for a dispute between employees and one Nahaimo and 13 Vancouver wooden boatbuilding firms.

S. Willisroft, conciliation officer, for a dispute between the National Biscuit and Confection Co. Ltd. and employees.

Percy Gomery, chairman, A. C. DesBrisay and R. K. Gervin, members, as a conciliation board for a dispute involving 22 Vancouver hotels.

A. J. Cowan, chairman, J. P. MacKenzie and J. N. Ross, members, for a dispute involving 33 Vancouver heating and plumbing establishments.

Legionnaire Popular With City Veterans

Now in its third year of publication in the city is a little-advertised magazine, but one which serves a useful purpose to veterans—especially those older ones who are unable to get out and swap yarns with their cronies as they used to be able to do.

Members of the 13 branches of the Canadian Legion on southern Vancouver Island receive each month, free of charge, a copy of the Legionaire. The magazine carries information about branch activities, Department of Veterans Affairs news and notices, and articles of interest to ex-servicemen.

When Legion membership jumped more than 100 per cent in many branches after the Second World War, it was felt that members who either did not or could not attend regular meetings should be kept informed as to happenings in the organization.

The Legionaire has turned out to be the answer.

Old veterans who no longer can get to their branch for a chat or a game of cribbage often write in to their respective secretaries telling how they enjoy the Legionaire—it enables them to keep up their contacts with a group that ranks high in Canadian and Empire organizations.

Bow, Arrow Hunt Not For S.P.C.A.

Victoria branch of the S.P.C.A. is continuing its fight with archers over the hunting of wild animals with bow and arrow.

James Barr, president of the local branch of the humane society, has written Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer on the question.

He says certain archery associations are planning on making representations to him to have the regulation banning bow and arrow hunting cancelled.

"These organizations have gone to considerable trouble to point out the advantages of this style of hunting," Mr. Barr has written, "but the fact remains that only a very few individuals are sufficiently skilled in the use of these weapons to be able to kill an animal humanely, that is, instantaneously."

Mr. Barr argued that this being the case, there was no justification for the removal of this regulation which met with the approval of a great many people in the province and beyond the province.

In Slam it is believed that a white elephant may contain a Buddha and the capture of one is rewarded. The animal is given to the king.

Arena Doors To Be Opened But Building Not Completed

The doors of Victoria's much-talked-about Memorial Arena will be opened to the public on Monday for the first time when the 1949 series of Starlight Theatre performances begins, but the building will not be completed in many respects.

Official opening ceremonies will not be held until the rink is finished in every detail which should be early in October prior to the opening of the Pacific Coast Hockey League season.

Unveiling of a memorial plaque in the foyer of the arena will not be held until that time.

All lighting installations inside the arena proper will not be completed until after the Starlight Theatre has concluded its series.

Indirect lighting fixtures in troughs along each side of the rink will burn for the occasion, but eight huge chandeliers to hang from the ceiling for sports events will not be in place.

High metal stagings from which workmen have been fastening fibroclastic sheets to the ceiling will not be taken down for the theatre performance.

They will be wheeled behind the stage from which the performances will be given.

The scaffolding will be left intact for workmen to install the drop lights and a big electric time clock which will hang from the centre of the ceiling for hockey games.

The concrete floor of the rink, over the refrigeration pipes, will not be finished either. Rough grinding of the concrete by a Seattle company of floor finishers has been completed.

But several weeks of polishing the concrete will follow.

Offices of the arena will not be finished, nor will concession and refreshment sections. Public restrooms will be available, though.

18 Months For Forgery, Robbery

Alexander McLachlan, 26, of Vancouver, former millworker at Departure Bay, was sentenced to 18 months in Oakalla Prison Farm at hard labor by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city and Oak Bay police courts today.

The magistrate imposed 18 months on each of three charges of forgery on bank cheques in the city, and the same term for breaking and entering a house by night and robbing it in Oak Bay, sentences to run concurrently.

The bank cheques involved concerned F. W. Francis, jeweller, and the Hudson's Bay Company and the home entered by accused was that of A. L. Stevenson, 2701 Dufferin Street.

Accused was remanded several times for sentence until information sought by the probation officer arrived from Vancouver.

Aldermen Happy With Survey Plan Following Meeting

The air was cleared by City Council Thursday over the holding of a survey of civic employees in an attempt to improve efficiency at the City Hall.

Mayor Percy George and aldermen met in private session with N. O. Paquette, Vancouver, of the Toronto business consulting firm of Stevenson and Kellogg which will conduct the survey.

It was reported, following the meeting, that members of the council were satisfied that its finance committee had not given improper instructions to the survey firm.

Some aldermen feared at last Tuesday's City Council meeting, that representatives of the company might have been coaxed on what to report on certain employees interviewed.

An immediate start of the survey is not likely, it was reported. Actual date when the work commences will be kept secret.

The survey, expected to take one month, will cost the city $2,000 at least. The city will be billed for expenses of the men conducting the survey.

Mr. Paquette explained to aldermen that the survey would be broken down into three phases:

First, descriptions for the principal administrative positions of the city will be prepared.

Second, an organization chart and an outline of the duties of the various positions in a proposed organization plan will be prepared.

Third, various employees will be examined, using psychological methods, to determine their qualifications for the work they are doing.

Fewer Apricots Here This Year

There will be limited supplies of apricots available in the city this year, fruit wholesalers announced today.

First apricots reached Victoria from the Okanagan 10 days ago and although shipments since then have been small, dealers say they have received 40 per cent of their season's quota.

California grapes will be available next week and will be the last till the fall. A California orange shipment was received today.

On Monday a shipment of oranges and lemons is expected from Australia. Dealers are bringing citrus fruit from this country so that they can use their limited U.S. dollar funds for other purchases.

U.S. pineapples are expected in Saturday, the last of the season.

Local raspberries and loganberries are still available. Boysenberries will be appearing sometime next week.

California pears, purchased before the government reimposed embargo regulations prohibiting their import, will be available for about a week. A shipment of Winesap apples from the U.S. are expected in Saturday. New apples from the Okanagan are still scarce.

Kamloops Band To Give Concert At Beacon Hill Park

An out-of-town band will be heard in concert from the Cameron Memorial Pavilion at Beacon Hill Park next week.

City Parks officials announced today the 56-piece Kamloops Elks Band will perform on Tuesday evening, starting at 8.

The band will arrive in Victoria during the week-end for the Dominion convention of the Elks starting Monday.

Two other band concerts will be given at Beacon Hill during the week.

The program will be started Sunday with a concert at 2.30 by the Park Band under Bandmaster H. J. Bigsby. A vocal soloist will be heard also.

Then on Wednesday evening, the weekly Electric Band concert will be given, starting at 8, under Bandmaster James Miller. Vocal selections will be given at this concert also.

Other events on the parks program for the week include a Gideon church service Sunday evening at 7.30 at Beacon Hill; outdoor moving pictures Thursday evening after dark at Beacon Hill; dancing on the green at Central Park at 9 Thursday evening; and a variety show by the Homeowners Friday evening at 8 at Beacon Hill.

Six-Year-Old Boy Suffers Acid Burns

Acid burns to the face, arms and legs, were suffered by Michael Gallo, six-year-old son of Mrs. Gertrude Gallo of 1133 Balmoral Road Friday evening, Constable Bonar Hannay, next door neighbor, reported.

The officer took the boy to Jubilee Hospital where he was treated and sent home. He is reported to be suffering from first-degree burns and is confined to his home.

According to the story told police, Michael and another small boy were playing with some bottles which came from a house being torn down on Johnson Street next to Foster's Garage. It is presumed the bottles held some form of acid.

After collision with a car while crossing at the intersection of Douglas and Fisgard Streets Thursday afternoon, Mrs. F. Fricker, 359 Ker Avenue, and Mrs. R. Comeau, 360 Ker, were treated for shock and bruises at St. Joseph's Hospital, city police reported. Officers said the car was driven by Samuel Pritchard, 286 Vipw Royal Avenue.

Although working at the present time, the wife said she was liable to be stricken at any time with a heart attack. While working she was making $20 a week, "but that is only if my heart allows me to."

The husband said his monthly pay cheque was $150 and he was ordered to pay her $12 a week, starting July 1.

A clothesline raider last night stole a brown, fleece-lined overcoat and a newly-bought mackinaw coat from the line of Mrs. E. Webber, 836 Caledonia Avenue, during the night, city police reported.

Higher Egg Prices Expected Monday

Egg prices will go up Monday, city wholesalers said today.

Just how much of an increase there will be, they do not know. The fact that there will be an increase, however, is definite, they say.

A rise Monday would be the third increase in egg prices in as many weeks. Monday of this week, large grade A's advanced three cents and the week before, they did the same.

Man Tells Court Wife Used Knife To Threaten Him

A man brought into city court today by his wife to provide her with support under the Deserted Wives Maintenance Act, told Magistrate H. C. Hall that during one of their frequent quarrels she threatened to carve him up with a butcher knife.

The husband said he disarmed his wife, kicked her and threw her on the bed. Questioned by C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, the man said he did not have shoes on at the time and, though not sure, he thought her leg had received the kick.

After a whispered talk with the wife, Mr. Harrison asked the husband, with respect to the knife-brandishing episode, if it wasn't the case that she had brandished it at him as a warning not to come any closer.

"I can't remember exactly what happened as the quarrel had been going on three-quarters of an hour," the husband said.

Evidence was that the couple had parted last November because they could not get along together and that a separation agreement had been drawn up. They had come together again this year, but soon learned they couldn't stand each other and separated once more. Both told the court they wanted to stay apart.

Although working at the present time, the wife said she was liable to be stricken at any time with a heart attack. While working she was making $20 a week, "but that is only if my heart allows me to."

The husband said his monthly pay cheque was $150 and he was ordered to pay her $12 a week, starting July 1.

Saanich Irrigation Discussed By Ash, Premier Johnson

Arthur J. R. Ash, Coalition member of the Legislature for Saanich, following a discussion of irrigation problems with Premier Byron Johnson, said today that the Premier plans to consider further the proposals for Saanich following his return from Ottawa.

Mr. Johnson left for Ottawa Thursday to discuss, among other things, the financing of the provincially-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

During the provincial election campaign, Mr. Johnson had announced the government's willingness to finance an engineering survey to determine the possibility of irrigating the Saanich peninsula and to secure estimates of the cost. He suggested that, if the plan proved feasible, federal and provincial financial assistance could be expected.

Only 16 Forest Fires Burning In Province

British Columbia's forest fires are down to 16 in number today and there probably are less than three dozen men fighting them.

This is in marked contrast to last week-end when 120 fires were burning, several of them out of control, and several hundred men were fighting them.

Throughout the province, following showers and cooler weather, the hazard today is medium to low.

Rain Welcomed But More Needed In Prairie Districts

WINNIPEG (CP)—Improved growing conditions resulted where rains occurred in the prairie grain area during last week-end, but some sections of the better crop districts, such as Manitoba and eastern Saskatchewan, require further moisture to promote normal crop development, the departments of agriculture of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways reported today.

Prospects in Manitoba are mostly favorable. In the eastern and central sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan they are promising. Many Alberta districts require rain to fill the grain properly.

Rain fell too late for crops in the south-central and southwestern sections of Saskatchewan, but the additional moisture will improve the feed situation and retard deterioration elsewhere.

Hail losses reported in the last week were heaviest in Alberta, where 25 per cent loss of from 15,000 to 20,000 acres was reported around Edmonton. In Manitoba, 50 per cent damage was reported for 600 acres on the Napinka district around Deloraine.

In British Columbia's Okanagan Valley the cherry move-ment is practically over. Apricots are moving in fair volume from lake points. Early apples now are being shipped, but the early potato movement has ended. All vegetables are progressing well.

U.N. Issues Documents Proving There Is Forced Labor In Russia

GENEVA (Reuter)—Britain's delegation to the United Nations' Economic and Social Council today issued two documents which they described as proof of forced labor in Russia.

The documents were:

1. Photostatic copies of a section of the Russian penal code headed: "Corrective labor code of the R.S.F.S.R." with an English translation attached; and
2. A British statement containing extracts from the corrective labor code which draws the conclusion that Soviet disclaimers of forced labor "are therefore valueless."

Nfld. Confederation Vote Charges Aired In Assembly

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—An independent member started the Newfoundland Legislature Thursday with charges that "hell was let loose" and "secularism went wild" in the referendum campaigns before Confederation.

Independent Member Peter Cashin told the House the Provincial Grand Orange Lodge Master of Newfoundland had issued a "circular letter" which was a "filthy" attack on Roman Catholics. Mr. Cashin is a Catholic.

He quoted Chesley Fillier, Grand Master of the Provincial Grand Lodge, as saying in the circular that the Roman Catholic Church made "an unwarranted invasion of an effort to dominate the right of free choice of the individual cleric" in the referendum.

From nearby Clarke's Beach, Mr. Fillier told the Canadian Press in a telephone conversation that the circular was "A private document issued through the mail to Newfoundland's 236 lodges. There are some 40,000 Orangemen on the island. The circular was not meant for publication or for distribution except among those to whom it was addressed, he said. It was not meant to be used for political purposes.

"I'm very much afraid Mr. Cashin has gone too far," said Mr. Fillier. "I'm afraid he'll find himself before the Justice Department."

Mr. Cashin made his attack in an emotional manner, shattering a glass while pounding the podium and scattering some papers about the floor.

He quoted from two other documents, one of them the Monitor, Newfoundland's only Roman Catholic journal, a monthly.

The other, he said, was a letter exchanged by two officials of the Orange organization, saying the "Roman Catholic Church is endeavoring to dominate Newfoundland."

Mr. Cashin speaking in the Throne Speech debate, opened his remarks on the religious question by quoting an editorial from the Monitor for June, 1948, following the first referendum and before the second, which was decisive in steering Newfoundland to Confederation with Canada.

Ontario Woman's Big Inheritance Now Down To $150

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Grace McGuire, 28-year-old Belleville housewife, says even she is puzzled now about that breath-taking $1,250,000 inheritance.

In fact, as of now, the windfall has dwindled down to something like $150.

Here is a day-by-day summary of developments:

Monday—Mrs. McGuire said a wealthy uncle in New York had left her $1,250,000. But she wouldn't identify the uncle.

Tuesday—Relatives in Toronto, speculating on whom the mysterious uncle might be, suggested he was Robert James Mulligan of Potsdam, N.Y., a retired furniture manufacturer.

Wednesday—James L. Mulligan of Potsdam said he wasn't the man, he didn't have enough money to leave anyone $1,250,000 and any money he did have he intended to spend on himself.

Thursday—Mrs. McGuire disclosed that word of the "inheritance" came to her in May by letter from O. H. Mosler, a lawyer in Columbus, O. But Mr. Mosler, when she telephoned him Thursday, said he had written no letter and knew nothing about the affair.

Mrs. McGuire said the letter was accompanied by a cheque for $200. She still has about $150 left.

Outdated Figures Used By Those Now Forecasting Depression

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

Approval of the North Atlantic Treaty by the United States Senate is a reminder of the powerful constructive forces afoot in the world, both political and economic.

Recently we have been hearing chiefly about trade problems which seem sometimes to be insuperable. But side-by-side with them we have also been seeing the things on the positive side of the ledger which a few years ago would have seemed impossible.

Thirty years ago yesterday's Senate action would have been impossible, and such a thing as the European Recovery Program would have been laughed out of court.

Economically, forecasts of depression or collapse are based on a reading of figures in a pre-war sense.

They tend to ignore the stimulus from political factors such as the North Atlantic Pact, rearmament, and a general determination to maintain a strong western world. They also tend to ignore the demands within the North American economy arising from increased population and from higher standards of living.

FOR 17 YEARS They have minimized the backlog of demand built up by some 17 years of depression and war, and the creative forces to meet them which were set up by the war.

In the present American "recession" it has been noteworthy in a number of instances how quickly goods on hand have been exhausted and have forced renewed buying of raw materials.

There remain both large sums of savings in the hands of the public, and a further huge buying power which could be unleashed through easing of credit, especially in the field of down-payments for housing.

Czech Episcopate Lists Terms It Asks State To Accept

By PHILIP CLARKE

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Roman Catholic bishops have told the Czech Communist government there can be no church-state agreement without government recognition of the Pope as the supreme head of the church.

A Vatican source, who gave out this information, said the Czech episcopate, defying government attempts to take over full control of the church, had sent a letter to all its priests listing the church's terms.

The letter called on the Czechoslovak government to abandon its sponsorship of a separatist Catholic action group, whose members have been excommunicated by the Vatican.

The letter comes at a time when Archbishop Joseph Beran, the Primate of Czechoslovakia, is a virtual prisoner of the Communist government in his palace. His defiance of the government's attempts to seize control of the church, has brought ominous hints from government officials that he is guilty of treason and subject to punishment.

The Vatican source said the bishops' letter listed these terms:

1. Christian ideologies must be respected and recognized in public life, education, words and deeds.

2. The government must recognize the spiritual jurisdiction of the Pope as supreme head of the Roman Catholic Church in all religious and church matters.

SCHOOL TEACHING

3. All orders limiting or threatening religious freedom must be revoked, particularly those regarding the education of Roman Catholic youth. The Czechoslovak government has ordered the teaching of Marxism in all schools, including church schools.

4. The government must stop publishing an education ministry bulletin purporting to instruct the Catholic clergy in its duties, and must permit the church to publish its own official bulletins.
5. Government officials concerning the payment of priests and the filling of clerical vacancies must be canceled. The government also must revoke orders

Erect Special Stage For Production By Starlight Theatre

With erection of a special stage at the north end of the new Memorial Arena over 4,500 seats will be available with good vision for the Victoria Theatre Foundation's Starlight Theatre productions, opening with "The Merry Widow" on Monday.

The huge stage will completely camouflage the whole of the north wall of the arena and curtains draped from the east to the west end will present a pleasing setting to the audience.

The actual proscenium opening will be over 40 feet in width, 20 feet high and 40 feet deep. The stage is built in sections in order to make it practical for easy erection and dismantling.

The scenery for the four productions to be presented this season by the Starlight Theatre are the same used for the Theatre Under the Stars in Vancouver.

Lions President Sounds Warning

NEW YORK (CP)—Walter C. Fisher of Queenston, Ont., newly-elected president of Lions International, sounded a warning Thursday against forces which threaten "the supporting fibre of the Christian or democratic way of life."

Fisher, 43, unanimous choice of the 26-country service organization for the presidency, was the principal speaker at the final session of its four-day 32nd annual convention.

He was named to the presidency after serving as first vice-president of the International Lions Club Association since 1948. He had also been third and second vice-president, as well as international director.

He is the second Canadian to hold the post of president. The only other was Harry Newman, K.C., of Toronto in 1924. Fisher succeeded Dr. Eugene S. Briggs of Enid, Okla.

CARELESS PLAY CAN LOSE THIS CONTRACT

When I saw Sylvan Gans, secretary of the National Amputation Foundation the other day he told me about a ball game that will be held at the Polo Grounds in New York on July 26.

On one team every player will be minus at least one arm. On the other team every player will be minus at least one leg. Even if you cannot get to see this game, the fact that you know about it should convince you that these amputees are not a liability.

I was telling Gans about a little game we taught some of these boys called memory poker. Cards are one of their foremost forms of recreation. I recall that we brought a group of them over to a national tournament at Atlantic City one year ago. Their artificial limbs did not prevent them from joining in the dancing after the game. One of the boys won top score on today's hand.

On the opening lead of the six of spades dummy played the three-spot, our soldier boy allowed him to hold the trick. East returned a spade and West won with the ace. West refused to continue a spade, and led a club. The soldier boy won the jack with the ace and then took the heart finesse. East won this trick with the king and cashed his king of clubs.

However, our soldier boy made nine tricks. Had he played the queen of spades from dummy at trick one, East would have unblocked with the jack. Now when East got in with the king of hearts, he would have returned a spade and set the contract two tricks.

For his work on behalf of the Canadian Legion, David Bevan was presented with a certificate of merit at the meeting of the Esquimalt branch of the Legion recently.

A series of weekly community picture shows will start at the Esquimalt Legion Hall, Admirals Road, Monday night. Showings will be held each Monday night at 8 and Saturday afternoon at 2. First one is entitled "Fighting Lady," a story of a U.S. aircraft carrier, and a comedy, "Screwdriver." Proceeds will go toward construction of a children's playground in the lot next to the hall being used at present for parking.

Pickets Are Arrested In Strike Dispute By Honolulu Police

Some of the 96 International Longshoremen Workers' Union pickets who were arrested by Honolulu police and charged with "refusing to obey an officer" are shown lined up waiting for transportation to the police station. Dispute arose when pickets wouldn't permit stevedores of the newly-organized Hawaiian stevedores, to unload a freighter. This was the second mass arrest of I.L.W.U. pickets made during the three-and-a-half months old Hawaiian waterfront strike. Bail of $50 each was put up by the I.L.W.U. and those arrested were released. — (SNS Photo)

Call For Nurses As Rate Of Polio Incidence Rises

Victoria Daily Times

VOL. 115 NO. 18  VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, JULY 22, 1949—22 PAGES

Australia Leads In Davis Cup

MONTREAL (CP)—Australia today won the doubles match of the North American Zone Davis Cup tie, defeating Canada in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. Brown and Sedgman, who paired to win the Wimbledon, Eng. doubles title in 1948, gave a beautiful display of teamwork and sure-stroking, especially up at the net. But the Canadians put up a good show, the west coast star being particularly impressive. Macken, who scored Canada's lone match victory with an upset triumph over Billy Sidwell Thursday was below form. The Australians broke through his service with ease, while Stohberg carried his most of the way. Despite a threat of rain, about 2,000 fans were in the stands. Today's victory put the Australians ahead two to one on matches. One win in the two remaining singles Saturday will give the stars from down under the Zone round.

Well, That's What It Said

The sign in front of this Los Angeles laundry is unmistakably clear. It says "Drive in Office." That's exactly what fireman Charles Lechler did when his truck missed a sharp turn. After climbing from the wreckage uninjured, Lechler surveys the damage—and the sign.

No Alarm Felt Say Officials

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alarmed by an increasing polio toll, General Hospital here today issued an urgent appeal for graduate nurses to help in the isolation ward. Medical director, Dr. R. A. Seymour, expressed alarm at the steady rise in the number of cases entering the hospital. "If it continues at this rate we will have a repetition of the 1947 epidemic," he said. "The present rise, in the number of cases is parallel to that of the 1947 outbreak." There are 36 cases confirmed in General Hospital, and five suspected victims undergoing diagnosis. In Victoria provincial health officials reported the provincial poliomyelitis total for the year to date at 47 cases—no deaths. The number of cases is the same as at this time last year. Officials said they were not in the least alarmed at the incidence of the disease this year. Last year's poliomyelitis toll was not considered extraordinary. Of the 47 provincial total, here is the breakdown by towns: Vancouver 34; Duncan 5; Peace River 2; Agassiz 1; Abbotsford 1; Crescent Beach 1; Saanich 1; Cranbrook 1 and Invermere 1.

FOUR STAR FINAL

Abetz Convicted In Paris; Sentenced

PARIS (AP)—Otto Abetz, Hitler's ambassador to occupied Paris, today was sentenced to 20 years at hard labor as a war criminal. A French military tribunal deliberated about an hour and 50 minutes, weighing testimony accusing Abetz of complicity in the killing of Georges Mandel, former French Interior Minister, of looting treasures and of other war crimes. The 20-year penalty was asked by the prosecutor Thursday when the case before the 12-man military court was completed. The trial began July 12.

Fish Strike Looms

SEATTLE (AP)—A purse seiners' union official said today that Puget Sound salmon industry operators had "flatly rejected" a new union counter-proposal on fish prices.

Family Bonus Hits High As More Families Flock To B.C.

For the first time in five months incoming families in receipt of Family Allowances exceeded those leaving British Columbia, according to figures released today by W. R. Bone, regional director. During July, 428 families entered the province and 425 left for other parts of the Dominion. Nova Scotia, Ontario, Alberta and Newfoundland received larger quotas than they sent but the remainder of the provinces offset this exodus. Marking the beginning of the fifth year of payment of the allowances, British Columbia figures set a new high. Cheques amounting to $1,718,096 were issued on behalf of 287,318 children in 150,511 families. The average allowance per family was $11.41 and that for each child $5.98.

LEEDS, England (CP)—Labor retained its seat in the west Leeds Borough in a by-election held Thursday.

Results announced today showed T. C. Pannell the victor with 21,935 votes. Bernard Mather, Conservative, polled 17,826. The majority of 4,109 compared with a 14,136-vote margin in the 1946 general election. It was the 34th time since the 1945 election that Labor successfully defended a Parliamentary seat without losing a single one. The party standing remained at 391 seats for Labor and 202 for the Conservatives in the 640-seat House.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy today and Saturday with light winds; little change in temperature. Low tonight, 52; high Saturday, 65.

Hunt For Blonde In Cohen Shooting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sheriff's deputies today sought a mystery blonde who may have put the finger on Mickey Cohen in the attempted assassination of the filmland gambling czar. The first reported break in the ruthless shooting came when Lawrence E. Vaale, a resident in the shooting area, told deputies he saw the blonde and three men flee from just below his bedroom window, moments after the shots Wednesday morning. Other sheriff's investigators were busy checking the long distance phone calls of the wounded mobster, who suffered a comparatively slight shoulder injury. Three others—Harry Cooper, bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the state attorney-general; Edward (Neddie) Herbert, Cohen henchman; and bit actress Dee David—were wounded critically, but are reported improving.

Hawaii Cargo Hot

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle longshoremen have voted to refuse to handle any cargo arriving from Hawaii until the island dock strike is settled.
